Girard Is Accused of 'Enticing'

WASHINGTON (UP)—A high defense official exploded a bombshell in the Girard case today by disclosing government evidence that GI William S. Girard "enticed" a Japanese woman closer toward a guarded area before killing her.

Robert Dechert, Defense Department general counsel, said in Coral Gables, Fla., that tesumony of all Japanese witnesses plus that of Girard's "American soldier-companion" made it appear the 21-year-old specialist 3-C "enticed" Japanese civilians prior to his deadly act.

Girard had been ordered to guard a machine gun emplacement on a firing range in Japan where Japanese were accustomed to pick up fired shells to sell as scrap. The defense official said the evidence showed Girard enticed the Japanese closer to the guarded area "by throwing them expended shell casings," then fired a shot that killed Mrs. Naka Sakai.

Departure From Duty

"No one says he deliberately killed the woman," Dechert said. But he added the Ottawa, Ill., soldier's action was "such a complete departure from his duty... that he could not have been considered on duty."

Japan, in whose jurisdiction the United States has surrendered Girard, has made the claim he enticed the Japanese shell gatherers. But heretofore this country has said only that Girard denied the charge.

Dechert's surprise statement amounted to a bombshell in the case. Previously Defense Department spokesmen had notrated they would not reveal evidence against Girard for fear of prejudicing his case in the Japanese courts.

U S attorney Oliver Gasch, who will argue the government's case against Girard's return to this country before Federal District Judge Joseph McGarraghy today, told the United Press:

"I didn't know Mr. Dechert was going to say that."

Takes it Easy; Holds Meeting With Reporters

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower returned to his office today, "virtually recovered" from a stomach upset which kept him in bed all day Monday.

The Chief Executive, stricken Sunday night with nausea and painful vomiting, returned to his desk a few minutes before 10 a.m. e.d.t. and went to work on accumulated mail.

On the recommendation of his doctor, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, the President took it relatively easy today and scheduled no official callers.

The President awoke shortly before 8:30 a. m. e.d.t., and promptly breakfasted on prunes, cooked cereal, toast and honey. An official bulletin said he had a "very comfortable night" and "awoke refreshed and hungry."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty reported the Chief Executive was "virtually recovered."

Reporters got a chance later to see for themselves how the President looked. They were called into his office a few minutes before 10 a.m. e.d.t. He looked like anything but a sick man.

Smiles For Press

He smiled broadly with newsmen and with photographers who took his picture sitting bemind a stack of letters.

He said he was feeling "fine." "Is your stomach sore?" a reporter asked.

The President chuckled and said, "No, not at all—not this morning, but I would be able to do with a few steaks."

Eisenhower, after breakfast in bed, dressed casually in a light tan plaid jacket, tan slacks loafers, white shirt and purple figured tie. He went to the elevator on the second floor of the White House and descended to the ground level, walking along the west wing colonnade in the bright morning sunshine to his office.

No Engagements

As he sat at his desk starting to dictate correspondence to his personal secretary, Mrs. Ann Whitman, the President said, "I'm just going to sign a few papers and I have no engagements today."

When reporters and photographers swarmed into his office, the President greeted the cameramen with a grin and asked, "Do you want me to stand up or sit down?"

The photographers wanted him seated, and one of them wise-

Steelworkers on Wage Committee Hold Meeting

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United Steelworkers' 170-man wage policy committee convened here today to establish a bargaining pattern for the metal fabricating industry.

Members also will be given the chance to air complaints at the two-day meeting.

Union President David J. McDonald was expected to take advantage of the session to help heal some of the wounds suffered by the union during the recent union election.

However, the center of attention will be the fabricating goals. Approximately 100 contracts covering 196 000 USW members expire this year.

(Eugene Maurice, director of District 12, which comprises steel making areas of Monessen, Charleroi and Johnstown, is attending the convention. Representing the Monessen-Charleroi section of the district are Glenn Chew, of Monessen Page Local 1394, and Sam Collis, of Jessop Steel, Washington, Pa.)

The wage policy committee was believed looking for an agreement similar to one reached with the basic steel industry last year.—a three-year contract which virtually assured labor peace until June 30, 1959.

Today's wage policy meeting was to be preceded by a meeting of the executive board comprising top officers and the 29 district directors.

Rider's Wife Takes Stand; Identifies Checks to Stirone

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The wife of Pittsburgh building supplier William G. Rider was scheduled to take the stand again today in the federal government's extortion case against union leader Nick Stirone.

Mrs. Rider identified Monday checks totalling $31,364 which her husband made payable to Stirone from Feb. 28, 1952 until Dec. 31, 1953.

Both Rider and his wife (the firm's bookkeeper) testified the money was in tribute to Stirone at a rate of 50 cents for every cubic yard of ready-mix concrete moved to a Pittsburgh Steel Co. construction site in Allenport.

Accompanying each check Mrs Rider told a federal court jury, was a statement detailing the cubic yardage covered by the payment. She said her husband's firm shipped 65,369 cubic yards to the job site but the supplier went out of business before the final $1 400 instalment could be made.

Admits Gambling

Rider has testified the payments forced him out of business But he admitted under cross-examination he dropped $12,000 to $13,000 at the gambling tables in Las Vegas, Nev.

Mrs. Rider said she learned of the alleged extortion attempt in 1951 when her husband returned to the office in an angry mood.

"As if I haven't enough trouble I've now got to pay Nick Stirone 50 cents a yard," she quoted her husband as saying.

Mrs. Rider said she did not know who Stirone was at the time but her husband identified him as a labor leader.

"My husband told me Nick Sirone had enough power that if he wanted to cause trouble, he could," the wife told the court. "He said Nick Stirone guaranteed there wouldn't be any labor trouble if he paid 50 cents."

Attorney Vincent M. Casey, counsel for Stirone, sought details from Rider about his gambling losses.

"Did you tell the FBI about your gambling losses?" Casey prodded.

Hubert I. Teitelbaum, assistant U. S Attorney objected and accused Casey, by innuendo, of trying to blacken Rider's name.

"I am going to show that Rider in 1954 lost $15,000 while gambling

12 Farm Workers Killed as Train Slams into Truck

VROMAN, Colo. (UP)—Twelve migrant farm workers were killed today when a pickup truck taking them to sugar beet fields was struck by a Santa Fe freight train.

The dead, all from the Rocky Ford, Colo., area, included men, women and children. Authorities said it would be "some time" before they could be identified.

Bodies were said to be scattered for at least 400 feet.

The truck was reported turning off U S 50 to go to a farm when it was hit by the train at shortly after 6 a.m. m.s.t. (8 a.m. e.d.t.)

Sylvester Licano of Rocky Ford, six miles east of here was driving the truck. He was killed.

The Colorado state patrol said Licano apparently was blinded by the sun and failed to see the approaching train.

None of the train crew was injured.

Engineer W S. Insdeep was too "upset" to talk, authorities said. The rest of his crew, conductor J. C. Prince, brakeman Troy Thomas and rear brakeman D A Johnson, could give no reason for the crash.

Ambulances from communities throughout southeastern Colorado were called to recover the bodies

Pricedale Water Rates Increased

Two water companies serving Pricedale, Van Meter and Fitz Henry areas will make rate increases June 25 totaling $1,304 for 199 customers.

The increases, authorized yesterday by the Public Utility Commission, include:

Pricedale Water Co., $892 for 174 customers in the Pricedale and Van Meter areas, and Fitz Henry Water Co., $312 for 25 users in the Fitz Henry area

The increase will boost the present base rate of $4.77 to $5 25 per month.

Uniontown Bus Fare Increased

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission has authorized Patsy Petro, Uniontown, to increase cash fares a nickel June 16 for bus service between Uniontown and South Union Twp., Fayette County.

Petro will raise the regular fare from 10 to 15 cents and the children's charge from five to 10 cents. He said the estimated $1,900 annual increase in revenue was needed to offset higher operating costs.

Lawler Tells Story Of Turnpike Contract

HARRISBURG (UP) — State Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler will go on the witness stand for the second day today at the resumption of the Pennsylvania Turnpike conspiracy trials.

On the stand for the entire day Monday, Lawler explained his part in the awarding of a $7,798,000 contract between the commission and the Mano-Mine Research and Development Corp., Reading, for which the nine defendants—including former commission chairman Thomas J. Evans, Coalgate, and James F. Torrance, Export—are charged with conspiracy to defraud the turnpike of "millions of dollars."

A member of the commission by virtue of his highways post since 1955 Lawler was one of the five members who approved the awarding of the contract to Mano-Mine. The state contends the award was obtained by "fraudulent pretenses," and brought Lawler to testify Monday that he had had no personal knowledge of the terms of the agreement, but "depended upon" the recommendations of Evans, Torrance, and three former top commission officials who are charged with conspiracy in connection with the negotiations.

Says Contract "Improper"

Under questioning by Earl V. Compton, a defense attorney, Lawler said during the afternoon session:

"I realize now that it was an improper contract."

Deputy Attorney General Vincent G. Panati said Lawler's testimony was aimed at proving that Evans and Torrance wilfully withheld information from Lawler shortly after the highways official took over as a commission member in 1955.

Panati said Lawler was not told

5,000 Suspended By Westinghouse; At Union Meeting

SHARON, Pa. (UP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp., invoking a clause in its contract with the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, has handed one-day suspensions to 5,000 workers for attending a union meeting on company time.

The company sent home the afternoon shift Monday and ordered this morning's shift not to report to work.

A company spokesman said the order, which shutdown production at the Sharon transformer works, was handed down when union members staged a meeting Monday on company time to discuss demands for a wage increase.

The morning shift, the company said, left work one half hour before the 3:30 p.m. quitting time and the afternoon shift reported a third of an hour later. Westinghouse officials, the spokesman added, warned the workers that leaving their jobs would be an illegal stoppage of work and subject to a one-day suspension.

Union and management negotiators bargained for 30 days for a new wage section in the five-year contract signed after the 156-day strike that ended in March, 1956 The talks broke off May 18

Company bargainers have maintained no wage increase was justified at this time.

Civic Music to Reorganize Here

Directors of the Monessen-Belle Vernon Civic Music Association will hold a reorganization meeting in the Monessen High School Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Officers of the Association to serve during the coming season will be elected and plans made for the annual membership campaign to be held in the early fall

A representative of the Civic Concert Service, of New York City, with which the local Association is affiliated, will attend the meeting

Isabella Firemen Plead no Defense

UNIONTOWN, Pa (UP)—Fourteen members of the Isabella Volunteer Department Monday entered pleas of no defense to charges of illegal possession and transportation of liquor.

The firemen were accused of using a department ambulance to haul in untaxed whiskey from Frostburg, Md., and selling it in the firemen's club which had only a beer license.

Silent Alarm at Social Association

Monessen firemen answered a silent alarm at the Monday Protective Social Association at 11th St. last night.

The insulation in a fan motor caught fire. Only the insulation was damaged.

Council to Meet

Monessen City Council will hold a regular meeting tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the City Building.

Planning Commission

The Monessen Planning Commission will meet at 9 o'clock tonight at the office of Dr. Joseph M. Dudas, Sr., chairman, at Sixth St. and Knox Ave. The meeting is open to the public.

Air-conditioning At Independent

The Daily Independent's plant and offices on Sixth St. have been air-conditioned.

Three overhead units with a total cooling capacity of 15 tons have been installed by the Monessen Heating & Roofing Co. General Electric equipment has been used.

Business and editorial offices, the newspaper composing room and the commercial printing department, all of which are on the street level, are served by the installation.

The basement pressroom and stereotyping department, where large quantities of metal are heated, are not air-conditioned.

Meeting Postponed

Originally scheduled for tonight, the regular monthly meeting of the Monessen School Board has been postponed until July 28.

Krasik Purchases Rogowitz Share In Building Here

Formerly co-owners, David and Ella Krasik, of Monessen, have acquired the entire ownership of a three-story brick building at 525 Donner Ave., according to an announcement today.

The couple purchased the remainder of the building from the estate of the other former co-owner, the late Meyer Rogowitz.

The reported purchase price was $50,000

The building now houses the J. C Penney Co. store and several offices and apartments.

A member of the Krasik family said no change in the present operation of the building is contemplated.

County Planners Offer Service As Coordinators

The Westmoreland County Planning Commission yesterday decided that "at present" it will not join any individual planning group but offered to serve as a coordinator at the invitation of any group

Meeting at the Westmoreland County courthouse in Greensburg, the commission also took preliminary action on setting up sub-division control regulations, appointing Robert P. DiLotto as chairman.

DiLotto and his committee of Clark Quay, Albert Senenet and Ben Hebana, are to submit tentative regulations at the meeting scheduled for July 8

Avra N. Pershing, chairman announced the resignation of Edward C Good and said it was accepted "with regret."

Sixth Victim Arrested In Brownsville Raid

A raid on two Brownsville business places last Friday which resulted in the arrest of five men, has netted a sixth victim, State Police revealed today

Troopers said that Mike Karpiak, 37, of 17 Union St., Brownsville, has been charged with five counts of violating gambling laws.

Earlier arrests of five Brownsville district men caught in the raid had brought filing of 45 separate numbers, horse, and vending machine violation charges.

Karpiak, who on Saturday voluntarily appeared at the office of Robert F. Hopwood, Jr., Uniontown, after learning of the charges against him, was freed under $2,500 bail pending court action. He waived a preliminary hearing yesterday.

Also awaiting court action under bond is the quintet caught in simultaneous raids on the Naples Restaurant and Square Tavern, located about 50 feet apart on Showden Sq. in Brownsville.

They are: Nick J. Horwat, 47, charged with 16 lottery offenses and nine counts of pool selling and bookmaking; Ambrose V. Dedola, 30, co-owner of the Naples, one count of maintaining a vending machine; Odest (Oddie) Viola, 34, twelve lottery counts and five of pool selling and bookmaking; Andy Lutian, 42, co-owner of the Square Tavern, one charge of maintaining a vending machine and Dominick Pascarell, 51, one lottery count.

Rockwell Blasts Tax Structure in State

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP) — Industrialist Willard F. Rockwell Jr. blamed "excessive corporate taxes" for what he called Pennsylvania's failure to share in the post-war expansion of the nation's automobile industry.

Rockwell, president of the state Chamber of Commerce, told the annual meeting of the Uniontown Chamber of Commerce, Monday night that automobile producers are locating plants in other states but steer clear of Pennsylvania because of its tax structure.

"It's interesting to note that, since World War II, General Motors has located 13 plants in Ohio with an estimated payroll of 25,000—Chrysler has built six plants in Ohio and Indiana, where it had none before—and Ford has located 10 plants with a combined payroll of 31 300 in Ohio and Indiana.

"Since some of these plants are not as close to Detroit as the Beaver Valley area — or even Pittsburgh itself — I think it's significant that Pennsylvania's share of this auto industry expansion has been a large goose-egg."

Rockwell said General Motors considered Pennsylvania for a plant location not too long ago, but instead located in Ohio after studying the Pennsylvania tax situation

He said Ford considered locating a plant in the Sharon area but gave up the idea on the advice of its tax counsel.

Rockwell said Michigan — with combined local and state corporate taxes comparable to Pennsylvania — is running into trouble on this account.

Rockwell praised state Secretary of Commerce William R. Davlin for "the excellent job he has done in industrial development within the Commonwealth in spite of the tremendous handicap of a very unfavorable tax climate.

"I might suggest," he added, "that our next governor would do well to continue Mr. Davlin in office no matter which party wins the election."

Democrats Plan Drive to Amend Big Money Bill

HARRISBURG (UP) — A determined Senate Republican bloc today prepared to override a parade of Democratic amendments to push through the $1,111,043,000 General Appropriation Bill and set the stage for the end of the 1957 General Assembly.

Final Senate action on the big money bill was made a "special order of business' for 1 p.m. edt today and Senate Republican Leader Rowland B. Mahany (Crawford) said a final vote will be taken regardless of the length of the session.

Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland) said his members will offer a flock of amendments and debate each one.

"I have a stack of amendments to the bill and I expect it will take hours and hours of debate," Dent said. The Democrats will try to restore more of the funds cut from the administration budget by the House. The Senate Appropriations Committee added only about four million dollars to the House-approved version.

If the Senate approves the general appropriation measure today, the move may end the hold-up of so-called non-preferred appropriation bills by the House Democratic delegation. Those bills require some Democratic votes since a two-thirds majority is needed to clear the allocations for state-aided hospitals and universities.

A move had been afoot to have the House enact the smaller non-preferred appropriations but it was scotched by a Democratic House caucus which ordered all of the money bills held up until final action on the general appropriation measure.

Meanwhile, Gov. George M. Leader carried his fight to the end to have at least part of the 86 million dollars cut from his budget by the House restored.

Group Urges Funds

The governor conferred Monday with a group of 50 community and civic leaders and the group adopted a resolution urging the Republican - dominated Legislature to restore the slashes in the Welfare Department budget, cut 27 million dollars by the House.

"These cuts completely eliminate the state's contributions to, and participation in, the network of community services with which you are associated," the governor told the group at a luncheon meeting at the Executive Mansion.

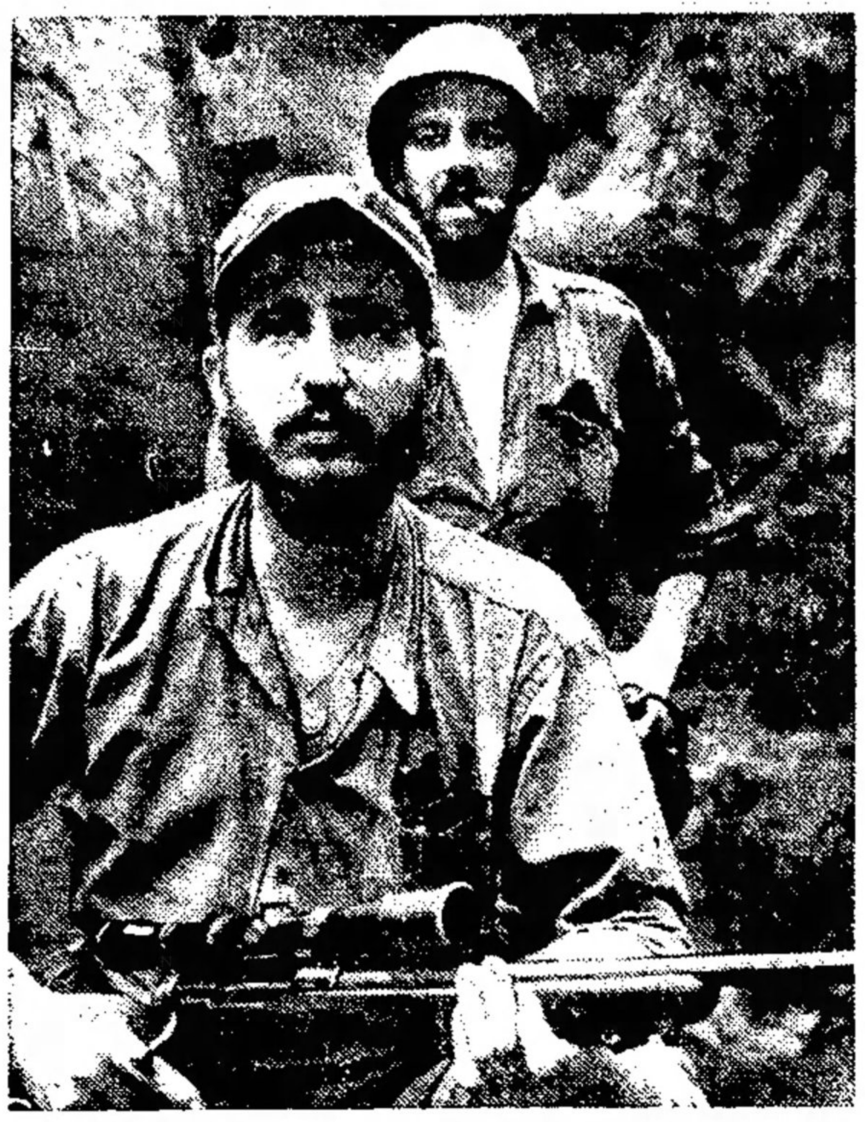
Leader warned that the cuts in the department's projected expenditures will cause the state to lose the services of qualified professional personnel who have been attracted by the progress the state has made along mental health lines.

Although the general appropriation bill was expected to go to a Senate - House conference committee for final adjustment, House Republican leaders indicated they feel the end of the current session may come next Thursday or Friday.

In the House Monday, the GOP doubled its original appropriation for the state industrial development program, to three million dollars, after a long debate and Democratic attempts to bring it up to the five million dollar mark sought by the administration.

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) argued that the State Commerce Department would have five million dollars available for the program in the 1957-59 fiscal period because of two million dollars uncommitted to date added to the bill that went to the Senate by a voice vote along party lines.

The chamber also approved and sent to the Senate a proposed $25,000 appropriation for a state commission to study Pennsylvania's 83-year-old Constitutions for possible revision.



VISIT TO CUBAN GUERRILLA LEADER — This photo of Dr. Fidel Castro, leader of Cuba's revolutionary forces, was made at a secret base near the coast where Castro recently received a large supply of arms and ammunition, according to rebel sources. at Las Vegas, Nev.," Casey told the court.

"I'll show that he lost this money and wasn't attending to business."

"Mr. Casey," Rider said, "when I was hounded by Stirone and Robert Dierker, and hounded and hounded day after day I became a sick man.

"I decided to take a gamble and lost.

"I lost between $12,000 and $13,000."

Although Attorney Casey pinpointed the gambling losses at Las Vegas, Rider did not say where he had dropped the money. Casey did not belabor the point further.

When he took the stand Friday, Rider said that he was thrown into bankruptcy in 1955 by his creditors, including the Duquesne Slag Co., headed by Robert Dierker.

Owed Stirone $1400

At the time, he said he still owed Stirone $1400 in payments.

"But I didn't think he was a creditor," he told the court.

The government and Rider have claimed that the payments to Stirone helped force him into bankruptcy.

Rider said that Stirone was "on my back all the time — and the president of Duquesne Slag was on my back to pay Stirone."

Earlier, Rider testified that the payoff meeting with Stirone at Belle Vernon had been arranged by Dierker. When he got mad and refused to pay the 50 cents per cubic yard allegedly demanded by Stirone, he quoted Dierker as saying:

"You've got to pay it. We'll make some price arrangement at the plant."

On the stand today, he also described a visit to Stirone's office in the lower Hill district when he delivered personally the first check for $1500.

"There was a winding stairway and at the top, someone opened a hatch (peephole) to see who I was — then a door opened into a plush office."

He used the word "plush" to describe the labor leader's headquarters office located at 5 Court Pl. Pittsburgh.

Stirone is being prosecuted under the Hobbs Anti-Racketeering Act and conviction could lead to a $10,000 fine and 10 to 20 years in prison.

Stirone, president of the nearly 5000-member Local 1058, Hod Carriers, and president of the District Laborers Council, was indicted March 20, 1956.

The government, which seeks to prove interstate commerce violation is involved, has called Stirone "Mr. Big" of the Western Pennsylvania construction industry.

Dent Proposes Industry Pay Part of Bill

HARRISBURG (UP) — Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent has proposed that industry be required to foot part of the bill for the state's occupational disease benefit program.

The Westmoreland County Democrat said the costs of the program to the state have been zooming in the past two years. Gov. George M. Leader earmarked 15 million dollars in his budget for such payments this biennium but the House cut that amount to 10 million dollars. The Senate has restored two million dollars of the House cut.

Labor Chiefs to Act On Fifth Amendment

WASHINGTON (UP) — Prompt action by the AFL-CIO Executive Council was promised today on the Fifth Amendment pleas invoked by top officials of the Carpenters' Union.

Carpenters President M. A. Hutcheson and two other union officials cited the Fifth Amendment 132 times Monday in appearances before a Senate Public Roads Subcommittee.

The subcommittee produced documents indicating the three union leaders and two former Indiana state highway officials shared $78,196 in profits on a highway right-of-way deal.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council has adopted a policy that union leaders invoking the Fifth Amendment when questioned about corruption charges should give up their jobs.

The International Association of Machinists (AFL - CIO) Monday dismissed three staff members who cited the Fifth Amendment last week before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee in refusing to answer questions about past Communist connections.

AFL - CIO President George Meany, in a terse statement issued following the hearings, said "I will bring this matter to the attention of the executive council at the earliest possible opportunity."

Hutcheson, who invoked the Fifth Amendment 36 times, even cited it when asked how he voted when his fellow members of the AFL-CIO Executive Committee decided to oust Teamsters President Dave Beck for pleading the constitutional privilege.

The Carpenters leader and his two co-officials, O. William Blair and Frank M. Chapman, also refused to say whether they knew each other. Blair is second vice president of the 85,000-member union. Chapman is general treasurer.

According to subcommittee documents, Chapman bought nine parcels of land in Gary, Ind., for about $22,500. Within a month or so, he resold the property to the state for $101,416 as part of the right of way for the Tri-State highway project.

The testimony indicated the money was put into a special bank account. Some of the money later was paid out to Hutcheson, Blair, Chapman, Virgil W. Smith, former Indiana highway department chairman, and Harry V. Doggett, a former department land buyer who handled the right of way purchases.

Gore and Filo Sedillo, subcommittee counsel, said Senate investigators found no evidence that union money or credit were used in the purchase of the land.

cracked about his illness Monday.

"You just wanted a day off, Mr. President," the photographer said.

Eisenhower laughed heartily.

A decision on his schedule for Wednesday will be made later in the day.

Health Statement

A bulletin at 9 a.m. e.d.t., by Hagerty said:

"The President had a very comfortable night. He slept with but one interruption for more than nine hours.

"His temperature, pulse, respiration and blood pressure are normal. He has virtually recovered from his stomach upset, but on the recommendation of his doctor, the President will not have any engagements in his office today."

Wednesday is normally the day for presidential news conferences. In addition, Eisenhower had invited 40 Republican House members to breakfast Wednesday at the White House, and this invitation has not yet been cancelled.

The President was stricken Sunday night with painful nausea and vomiting. He has not been nauseated, according to Hagerty, since early Monday. The Chief Executive has been taking light, but solid nourishment since late Monday afternoon.

that Evans' son, the late Richard Evans, and Charles Stickler Jr., Manu-Mine president who is married to Evans' niece, were officers and major stockholders in the firm.

Panati also said Evans and Torrance failed to inform Lawler that although the contract named a drilling price of $12.50 per foot, Manu-Mine had estimated the total cost of the project would be four million dollars.

The prosecution seeks to prove that the contract, for filling of abandoned mines beneath the Northeastern Extension roadway, was illegally awarded without required prior approval of the Highways Department and without competitive bidding required of all construction contracts.

The defense contends that the mine-filling project was "engineering" work, and thus not subject to the bidding requirement, and that the approval of the Highways Department was implied in Lawler's vote of approval as a member of the commission.

Four not Guilty of Macing

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Four state Highway department employes were cleared of macing charges Monday. The acquittals wiped clean the slate of macing and conspiracy charges filed in 1954 against 15 state employes.

Fifteen were indicted. Fifteen were cleared.

An Allegheny County jury Monday acquitted the last four to be brought to trial. After the verdict, the district attorney's office requested the charges be dropped against C. H. Buckius, former deputy secretary of the state Highways Department now on a federal mission in South Korea. Judge Samuel Weiss agreed.

Found Innocent

Found innocent by the jury were Thomas J. McElheny, assistant maintenance superintendent for the Highways Department in McKeesport; Oscar Hohing, former Allegheny County maintenance superintendent; Michael Hertz, foreman at the Aspinwall maintenance garage, and Alexander Campbell, former assistant at McKeesport.

The macing cases were instituted following the 1954 primary elections. James F. Malone, now president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Assn. but then Allegheny County District Attorney, accused the 15 Republican state payrollers of conspiring to force their subordinates to contribute to the primary ticket of then Gov. George S. Fine. Malone and Fine had been feuding for control of the Republican organization at the time.

Pleads Guilty To Charge of Drug Dealing

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Edward Todd, now serving a 10-year federal prison term for selling narcotics, has pleaded guilty to another charge of dealing in the illicit drug trade.

But attorneys for the Bellaire, Ohio, former saloonkeeper requested delay in sentencing Monday until Todd goes to federal court next week to put the finger on a former associate.

Judge William Cercone granted a one-day stay in sentence while he conferred with officers of the federal court.

Monday after a series of witnesses had identified him as a principal supplier of narcotics in the Pittsburgh district.

Chief witness for the prosecution was William Clark, a one-time taxicab driver now serving a five-year term in federal prison and awaiting sentencing in Allegheny County criminal court.

Girard

Girard's chief American counsel, denounced Dechert's statement in the most biting terms.

He called it "one of the lowest possible blows," a "dastardly charge" that would damage the prestige of the United States in the eyes of the world.

Noting Girard's commanding general certified the GI was on duty status when he shot Mrs. Sakai, Carroll told the United Press "somebody is lying."

He said if the government has the information it claims about "enticement" and still turns Girard over to Japan "they're really throwing him to the wolves." He said the Japanese do not allow cross-examination and witnesses to the charge "could be lying."

Carroll said Dechert's disclosure raises a "question of fact" and makes it imperative McGarraghy return the embattled GI to this country to testify and cross-examine witnesses.

HARRY S. FULTON

A Monessen native, Harry S. (Four) Fulton, 58, of 2510 Cleveland St., McKeesport, died Sunday in McKeesport Hospital.

Mr. Fulton was born Sept. 4, 1898 in Monessen, a son of the late Hugh and Emma Mansfield Fulton. He was a member of the Shoemaker Memorial Evangelical United Brethren Church.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ella Beveridge Fulton; two daughters, Mrs. June Blank, of McKeesport and Hazel Fulton, at home; a son, Arthur Fulton, at home; two grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Gladys Weiskircher, of Boston; Lillian Fulton and Mrs. Flora Phillips, both of McKeesport; a half-brother, Arthur Starry, of McKeesport and a brother, David Fulton, of Belle Vernon.

Friends are being received at the Craig Memorial Home in McKeesport, where services will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p. m.

MRS. EVA REAM

Mrs. Eva Ream, 74, of 432 McKee Ave., Monessen, died yesterday at 2:53 p. m. in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Mrs. Ream was born in Tarentum, Jan. 28, 1883 and was a member of the Daughters of America, of Belle Vernon.

A former resident of Belle Vernon, she had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Milton (Mabel) Beatty, since the death of her husband, Ellsworth Ream, in 1940.

In addition to Mrs. Beatty, she is survived by two sons, Henry, of Belle Vernon and Harold, of Roscoe: two brothers, Steve Lammay, of Charleroi, R. D. and Henry Johns, of West Brownsville and four sisters, Mrs. Carrie Heffran, of Tarentum; Mrs. Grace Newton, of Pottstown; Mrs. Georgianna Protin, of Charleroi and Mrs. Margaret Moore, of Newfield, N. J. Six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren also survive.

Friends will be received at the Ferguson Funeral Home, after 7 o'clock this evening. Funeral home visiting hours are from 1 to 5 and from 7 to 10 p. m.

JAMES RUECROFT

Friends are being received at the Harold L. Schrock Funeral Home, 321 Washington Ave., Charleroi, for James Ruecroft, of Dunlevy, who died Sunday evening in the Veterans Hospital at Aspinwall. He was 65.

Born in Shire Oak, March 24, 1892, he was a retired employe of the American Steel and Wire Division in Donora.

He was a veteran of World War I, and a member of the American Legion Post 22, of Charleroi.

His wife, Mrs. Jane Beveridge Ruecroft survives, as do a daughter, Jeannette, at home and a brother, Froman, of Monongahela.

Funeral home visiting hours are from 1 to 5 and 7 to 10 p. m. Services will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p. m.

GEORGE M. THOMPSON

George M. Thompson, chief of the Westmoreland County voter registration office from 1952 until his retirement in 1956, died suddenly at his home, 115 McClellan Ave., Shafton, Saturday at 12:30 a. m., his 72nd birthday.

Son of the late James and Mary Ann Mull Thompson, he was born June 8, 1885 in Irwin, and had lived in that community all his life.

He was an employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad for 20 years until 1930, and later served as a referee for the State Workmen's Compensation Board until 1950. He was also a constable in North Huntingdon Twp. from 1915 to 1935.

He was a member of the Irwin First Presbyterian Church, Shafton Volunteer Fire Department, and Members Beneficial Assn. of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Margaret Boyle Thompson; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret James, of Irwin, and Mrs. Mary McCormick, of Circleville; two granddaughters; two great-grandchildren. A brother, William, of Manor and two sisters, Mrs. Sadie Shannon and Mrs. Ruth Davis, both of Irwin, also survive.

Services were held this afternoon at 2:30.

Conference on School Problems Is Announced

A group discussion conference for elementary and secondary school personnel will be held Thursday and Friday at California State Teachers College, it was announced today by chairman Henry Furio, Monessen High School principal.

The conference is being sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, Pennsylvania branch.

Registration will take place at 9 a. m. Thursday in the college's Main Hall. Friday's program will start at 9:30 a. m. and discussions will take place both days. The registration fee is $1.

Problems to be discussed include:

How can we improve quantitatively and qualitatively our science and mathematics programs by securing competent teachers, offering more courses for college-bound youth and guiding more able students into such courses?

What are new techniques and or devices used to improve instruction?

How can the principal improve the quality of instruction through better staff utilization?

What are ways and means of objectively evaluating teachers?

New Chemical Is Real Boon to the Farmer

WASHINGTON (UP) — There may be a lot of "jack" in those beanstalks raised on a revolutionary new chemical which already has grown 12-foot cabbages and tomatoes the size of footballs.

The chemical, called gibberellin, not only grows foodstuffs bigger, in many cases it grows them faster.

"It looks like the biggest thing that's happened to the farmer since DDT," one plant researcher said.

Gibberellin originally was derived from a fungus found growing in the rice fields of Formosa, where paddies were dying out because the stalks grew so big they fell over into the water and killed the rice.

The government and universities both here and abroad have conducted research on the new chemical ever since U.S. scientists separated the growth-giving element from the fungus in 1951. Gibberellin has produced pole beans from dwarf bush means, 16-inch lettuce leaves, and cucumbers that double in size in a month. The growing time for celery has been shortened three weeks by use of the chemical and tobacco has yielded 10 per cent more per acre.

However, it does not work on all plants.

Dr. Paul C. Marth has been conducting experiments with gibberellin at the Agriculture Department's giant research plant at Beltsville, Md.

"We still think there's a lot of research to do yet," he said, but a number of chemical and drug houses already have started selling gibberellin on the market.

There are a number of unknown qualities to the chemical, he said. For instance, he fed gibberellin to a bush and it turned into a great rambling vine.

The chemical now costs $10 a gram and $5,000 a pound.

"We don't know quite where gibberellin is going to take us in the food market," Marsh said. "But there's no question about it, this stuff really peps up plants."

Canadian Liberals Lose Out

No Party Has Votes To Control

OTTAWA, Ont. (UP)—The Conservatives won Canada's general election for the first time in 22 years in an upset victory over the Liberal Party but failed today to gain a parliamentary majority as final returns trickled in.

The country was faced with a situation in which no party could exercise control over the government.

The 1:30 a.m. e.d.t. United Press summary of party standings showed 108 Conservatives elected and 4 leading; 100 Liberals elected and 5 leading; 20 CCF elected and 5 leading; 18 Social Credit elected and 1 leading; and four others—1 Independent Liberals and 2 Independents who usually vote Conservative — elected.

A victorious party needs 135 of the Commons 265 seats to form a government with a voting majority.

Called 'Lone Wolf'

John Diefenbaker, 61, the "lone wolf" Tory-leader, confounded the pollsters and brought the Conservatives out of 22 years in the political wilderness. During that period the Liberals under Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and former Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King ruled Canada, usually with a commanding majority.

St. Laurent hurried back to Ottawa today, faced with the decision of either asking Governor-General Vincent Massey for a new general election, or trying to remain in office with a minority government. If he attempted the latter course, the opposition parties could vote his administration out of office at any time, and he would be forced to resign.

In either case, Diefenbaker, who became Tory leader six months ago, is likely to be called on to form a government. But his cabinet would be faced with the same conundrum — how to find sufficient support among the various parties to sustain any challenge that might crop up on the floor of the Commons.

St. Cajetan Society To Install Officers

Installation of officers will be held by the Holy Name Society of St. Cajetan R. C. Church on Sunday along with a Father's Day observance. The men will attend the 8 a. m. mass and receive communion in a body and after mass there will be a communion breakfast in the church basement.

Special tribute will be paid to both living and deceased fathers and guest speaker will be Arnold "Pope" Galiffa, of Donora, former Army football star.

Officers to be installed are Louis Manderino, president; Daniel Salotti, vice president; Frank Jeanette, treasurer; Nello Tineri, secretary.

All Holy Name men are asked to receive confession on Saturday evening.

Nick H. Fisfis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisfis, of 1008 Knox Ave., Monessen, will attend the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia in the fall. He has been accepted as a student at the School of Veterinary Medicine.

Fisfis was graduated last Saturday from Pennsylvania State University receiving a bachelor of science degree in zoology and entomology.

Italy Is Facing Another Crisis

ROME (UP) — Italy's government crisis was right back today where it started 36 days ago.

The resignation Monday night of the short-lived government of Premier Adone Zoli gave President Giovanni Gronchi the task of trying to find a leader strong enough to take Italy out of its political morass.

Revised School Aid Bill in the House

HARRISBURG (UP) — Compromise legislation to give Pennsylvania's school districts an additional $31,300,000 in state aid during the next two years was expected to clear the House today.

The Republican caucus controlling the House with 125 votes unanimously agreed to the revised subsidy bill Monday and placed it in position for final vote after beating down proposed Democratic amendments.

The Republican version of the bill, revised twice to offset Pittsburgh and Philadelphia opposition, would substantially aid the poorer school districts without placing too severe a burden on the larger districts.

The revised bill would increase the maximum per teaching unit subsidy from its present $5,100 level to $5,300 during the 1956-57 school year. The four mill local effort rate was retained. During the 1957-58 school year the subsidy would jump to $5,600 and the millage to 4 1-6. Transportation and tuition reimbursements were not changed. The original bill woud have jumped the subsidy to $5,900 and the local effort rate to 4 8-9 mills during 1956-57 and to $6,200 and 5½ mills in 1957-58.

The compromise was a major victory for the larger cities. They were instrumental in sending the first draft of the subsidy back to committee and then forcing the GOP majority to write in further amendments, charging the original version would have "short-changed" their cities.

Rep. Maurice H. Goldstein (R-Allegheny), who led the battle for Pittsburgh, said the revised bill would give his city about $800,000 over the original bill. Goldstein also followed up with legislation to increase Pittsburgh's taxing power for school purposes three-quarters of a mill to 14 mills. He said the legislation would return some $750,000 annually.

Dulles Favors Reciprocal Talks

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the United States favors a 30-minute monthly radio-TV program on a reciprocal basis with Russia to inform people in each country about East - West problems.

Dulles told a news conference that the United States is pressing this plan on the Soviet Union.

He said the idea was first proposed to the Soviet Union by the United States, Britain and France at the Geneva foreign ministers conference in 1595.

Dulles said he has doubts as to value of a one-shot appearance such as that of Soviet Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev on a recent American radio television network program (CBS).

We should have an opportunity on a regular reciprocal basis to speak to each other's peoples, Dulles said.

Senate Tackles New Set of Money Bills

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate prepared today to tackle another set of money bills carrying almost a billion dollars less than the administration had requested to turn a number of government agencies.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, notifying senators they must "start early and work late" to act on major bills, ordered the Senate to convene at 9:30 a.m. this week.

His program called for passage of four appropriations bills today and Wednesday, followed by the foreign aid authorization bill which must be enacted before the House and Senate can appropriate the cash for foreign aid.

Funds For Agencies

The four appropriations bills carry funds for the Agriculture Department and related activities, independent government agencies, the Labor Department and the Health, Education and Welfare Department and the District of Columbia.

Johnson told th Senate Monday other major appropriations bills, except that for foreign aid, should be enacted by June 30.

As approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee, the four bills carry more than 12 billion dollars, a reduction of about $95,200,000 from administration requests, but an increase of about 13 millions over the amount voted by the House.

Reduced By Senate

The Senate version of the Agriculture bill would provide $3,692,889,757, a reduction of $24,157,600 from the House figure. However, the appropriations committee recommended reversing the House provision which would kill off the acreage reserve section of the soil bank program on 1958 crops.

Largest of the four measures was the independent offices bill carrying $5,378,224,800 — a reduction of $6,976,000 from the House-approved figure.

In making that net reduction, however, the Senate committee approved a $14,250,000 greater reduction than the House cut of $149,500,000 for veterans' compensation and pensions. These were paper reductions, however, which save the Treasury nothing because the payments are fixed by law.

Moslems Beaten by Rioters

ALGIERS (UP)—French rioters stormed through Algiers today and beat up Moslems in reprisals for recent rebel bomb attacks.

The rioters stoned both European and Moslem shops whose owners refused to heed a general strike call for today by the French war veterans and students associations.

The young Frenchmen shouted "Let the army take over" as they surged through the winding streets, seeking out frightened Moslems in the second day of anti-Moslem rioting.

French authorities had moved in extra paratroopers to help protect the 250,000 Arab residents of Algiers, but they were unable to halt the angry mobs immediately.

The French were angered at recent bomb outrages, which have taken 19 lives in Algeria alone in the past 10 days, and inflamed by such massacres as the slaying of 303 pro-French Moslems at Melouza.

The bombings and other attacks on the French were part of the nationalists' drive for independence from France in a civil war that is costing France millions of dollars a day.

Riots also were feared in Constantine where a rebel grenade exploded on a crowded street Monday night, killing a 17-year-old girl and wounding 17 other persons. Police said five children were wounded by the explosion of the fragmentation grenade.

Tip to motorists: Watch out for school kids—they weren't brought up to be run down.

Find Good Men For Court Vacancy

THE DISCUSSIONS which are taking place Greensburg these days concerning a Westoreland County common pleas court vacancy ated by the death of Judge George H. Mcorter seem to us to be too much concerned h political expediency and too little with the mpetence and character of this important rt.

The county committees of both political par- will shortly be meeting to nominate candies for this vacancy. The Republican comtee is scheduled to meet June 22 and the mocratic committee sometime after that.

The two nominees so chosen will appear on November general election ballots along h the four candidates nominated for two er judgeships at the primaries last month.

From what we hear of the strategy conences which are taking place day and night, principal concern of the party leaders ms to be to satisfy factional interests rather n to bring an outstandingly competent lawto a bench which stands much in need of mpetence.

We recognize, of course, that this unusual uation in Westmoreland County raises some ious political problems which cannot be ored by the responsible party leaders. As as judges are elected by popular vote, ties is bound to have a hand in their selec-. So we are dealing with a fact and not just theory.

Nevertheless, we venture to suggest that s might be a place in which the best govment would be the best politics. In other ds, either of the parties might well strengthits chances in the election by picking for the Wherter vacancy the most competent and spected attorney it can persuade to run.

WE SEE little chance that the Democrats n do this unless the independents of that y can somehow take charge of the comtee meeting. If the ruling courthouse clique s its way as expected, we can expect the ninee of that party to be someone who will e the interests of the political machine er than the cause of justice under the law.

We hope we are wrong about this, but we t it.

As for the Republicans, it seems to us clear- e be in their best interest as well as in the e interest to find a candidate of outstandqualifications for the third place on their ial ticket. We believe they should resist temptation to be cagey about this choice.

e two other Republican candidates for e, Robert H. Rial and Avra N. Pershing, men who are entitled to the confidence of thinking voters of both parties. They d in sharp contrast to the machine-picked es of the Democrats, Judge Edward G. r and District Attorney L. Alexander Sculo of whom have miserable records as c officials.

ssuming that the Democrats' third candiwere a product of the same system that Bauer on the bench and is trying to e same for Mr. Sculco, it would strike us t politics for the Republicans to round ir ticket with a man of outstanding perl and professional qualifications.

e primary election returns showed that ands of voters in Westmoreland County a better common pleas court. The total votes cast for candidates other than Bauer and Mr. Sculco far exceeded cast for the two machine candidates. Westmoreland County can get a good court its election if the independent voters are n of a chance to make their strength t.

stly 'Economy'

HE CHANCES do not look good that Con- s will pass a school construction bill at this . The Kelley Bill, originally introduced Congressman from Westmoreland Counsed to include some of the views of Eisenhower on the subject, is stalled s House Rules Committee. And s that it will remain stalled.

edit for bottling up the Kelley Bill s to those congressmen in both comprise the so-called "economy e sense of their "economy" they e estimate the shortage of modern classrooms which educators tell concerning the quality of public in numerous states and localities. Kelley Bill was passed now, it ld provide less than 25 per cent of the new s estimated to be needed between 1960.

ber of Congress who are responsible for this legislation, which has been called for in the national platforms of both parties, have taken a terrible of the cold shoulders.

e took just a stomach upset to Eisenhower, but Wall Street made it a splitting headache.

Merry-Go-Round—

House Vote Is Near on Gas Bill

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — This week the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee begins voting on a bill which will add about $850,000,000 to the gas bill of households. It's the much-discussed, much-lobbied natural gas bill which Ike vetoed last year after a lobbyist for Superior Oil tried to give $2,500 to Senator Case of South Dakota.

Mr. Pearson

This year the bill is being piloted by a genial, slow-talking gentleman from Arkansas, Rep. Oren Harris, a close friend of public utility mogul Sam Moses of Arkansas Power, who once presented Mrs. Harris with a batch of nylons when nylons were scarce. Harris recently acquired a 25 per cent interest in station KRBB-TV in El Dorado, Ark., for only $5,000 — probably the year's best television bargain. As chairman of the House Interstate Commerce Committee he sits in judgment on the FCC which hands out TV licenses.

The gentleman from Arkansas is no corn-pone Congressman. He is as shrewd as he is affable. There are several things to watch as he wields the gavel inside the committee on the natural gas bill. One is whether he waits for Rep. Charles Wolverton of Camden, N. J., ranking Republican on the committee, to return from Europe. Wolverton led the fight against the gas bill last year. He won't return until June 14.

Another thing to watch is any whispering between Harris and Congressman Sam Friedel, the Baltimore Democrat who, by moving to reconsider last year, permitted the bill to get out of committee. Baltimore will pay several million dollars extra if the gas bill passes. Yet, despite a bawling out from Baltimore's Mayor D'Alesandro, Friedel last year played into the hands of the gas lobby.

Mayors Get Run-around

The public, and even most congressmen, have not known how skillfully Harris has maneuvered the gas bill before his committee; how adroitly he has suppressed testimony by the mayors of the nation's largest cities.

Harris told the mayors they could testify during the week of May 14, but refused to name specific days and hours. So Mayor Charles Taft of Cincinnati, brother of the late Senator from Ohio, came to Washington, cooled his heels in the committee room. Finally he approached Harris.

"I can only be in town for today," said Mayor Taft. "I'd appreciate it if you could give me some time."

"I'm sorry," replied Harris, "but unfortunately I'm unable to grant your request because so many people are ahead of you."

Mayor Taft returned to Cincinnati without testifying.

Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City was also stalled off. Representing 8,000,000 New Yorkers who don't want their gas bills raised, Wagner was considered the most dramatic witness against the gas bill. Harris knew this. Maybe that was why he stalled Wagner.

After repeated urging, Harris finally agreed on a time when Wagner could testify. Significantly, Harris made it an afternoon when the House was expected to vote on the $36,000,000 defense budget.

The night before Wagner's scheduled appearance, Harris sent the mayor a telegram telling him not to come. The defense budget would be up for amendment on the House floor, he said, and the rules required committee members to be there. The committee hearing was canceled.

The excuse was phony. On the same day six important House committees held meetings, namely Foreign Affairs, Merchant Marine, Rules, Ways and Means, Joint Atomic Energy, and the Conference Committee on the Commerce Budget.

On the House floor, Harris uttered just 131 words regarding the defense bill — to ask that the Army and Navy General Hospital in Hot Springs, Ark., not be closed. For this the appearance of the Mayor of New York was canceled.

Lobbyists Favored

In contrast, lobbyists for gas companies got favored treatment.

Randall Le Boeuf, attorney for Consolidated Edison of New York, had a special committee meeting set up on May 20 when none had been scheduled. He said he was due in court on May 21, so Harris went out of his way to get his testimony.

On the other hand, when Reps. John Heselton (R., Mass.) and Torbert Macdonald (D., Mass.) wanted to cross-examine John Heyke, a lobbyist for the bill, Harris arranged for Heyke to get out of town.

He so represents the Brooklyn Union Gas Co. and had worked behind closed doors with a secret group of natural gas executives to draw up parts of the Harris bill. But when the two Massachusetts congressmen wanted to question him, Harris got Heyke out of the way by accepting his written statement at 5 o'clock on the evening of May 22, after which Harris and Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R., Kans.) were left in the committee room.

Two days later Heselton and Macdonald discovered this, protested, and Heyke was finally called back on June 3.

That's how skillfull Chairman Harris was in trying to put a bill which will cost homeholds about $950,000,000.

V for Victory

From Washington—

Nobody Fooled by Krushchev

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

There is no doubt that the Columbia Broadcasting Co. gave Nikita Khrushchev a powerful and precious platform from which to propagandize the American people and to put the best possible face on Soviet purposes and actions.

It is understandable that President Eisenhower should view the CBS enterprise rather unhappily, as he indicated at his latest press conference.

Mr. Drummond

But the opportunity which CBS gave to Mr. Khrushchev to answer questions via television screen was a perfectly reasonable exercise of the right and role of a free, private, competitive press.

It is no different in principle than when American newspaper correspondents in Moscow submit questions to leaders of the Kremlin, including Stalin, as they have many times in the past, and then print the questions and answers.

Alternative Is Dictatorship

I am not suggesting that either the newspapers or the networks are always wise in the way we use our freedom, but we must never forget the fact that the only alternative to having a free press and a free radio-TV to print is to have the government do it — and you know where that would lead. It is better that many should decide — and often differently — what shall be printed than to have the government make the decision for everybody.

In the Soviet Union the dictatorship decides what the people shall and shall not read and hear and see. Here, no government censorship can turn the dial or stop the press. Nobody is compelled to read or listen. I am sure that American public opinion can take care of itself — even when subjected to the mellifluous translation of Mr. Khrushchev.

In many ways Mr. Khrushchev was usefully revealing. He revealed quite clearly what the Soviets mean by "peaceful" coexistence. Let us look at what he had to say on this subject.

'Let People Decide'

His theme was: Let the world live in peace and let it have Communism only when the people want it. He put this theme several different ways and he used these words more than once:

"Let us live in peace. . let us compete. . as far as the question of which system (capitalist or Communist) will come out on top. . let our peoples decide that."

As nearly every reader knows, the Communists have their own definitions for words which mean something quite different to us. So when Mr. Khrushchev uses such a phrase as "let our peoples decide," we need to remind ourselves of how the Soviet Union goes about "letting peoples decide."

How, for example, did the Soviets let Hungary decide whether it wanted the Russian Army to crush the Hungarian revolution?

A soon to be published report of a special United Nations committee declares that it has evidence that Moscow was not "invited" to send tanks and troops into Hungary, as it has claimed, but intervened when Hungarian leaders refused even at gunpoint to give such an "invitation."

That's "letting the people decide" — Soviet style.

What did the Soviet Union do toward "letting the Hungarian people decide" whether they wanted to be freed from the Kremlin?

Hungarians Deported

The same U. N. report discloses that it has turned up "inescapable evidence" of the deportation to Russian prison camps of "thousands" of Hungarians whose only offense was that they wanted "to decide for themselves."

Did the people of Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia have any opportunity to "decide for themselves" what system of government they wanted to live under?

Are the Czechs or Poles or Rumanians or Albanians or East Germans being given any opportunity to "decide for themselves" whether they want to live under the Communist system?

I don't mean uselessly to rehearse the obvious, but the incontestable evidence shows:

That when Mr. Khrushchev appeals for "peaceful" co-existence on the promise to "let the peoples decide" whether or not they want Communism, he means that "peaceful" co-existence will be carried on by the Kremlin exactly as it has in the past — by force, subversion and subterfuge.

Khrushchev tried, but I doubt if many Americans are being fooled.

Nixon Casts Lot with 'Modern' Republicans

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—It was by calculated risk and no mere chance that Vice President Richard M. Nixon stood up last month to be counted as an all-out cheer leader for the Eisenhower administration.

It was a calculated risk of presidential politics looking to the 1960 Republican nomination. It was no mere chance because Nixon has repeated the maneuver three times this month.

Mr. Wilson

The vice president is likely to be on his feet a good part of the time between now and the 1960 Republican National Convention. He will be telling the voters, especially Republican voters, that they should rally to Eisenhower's support.

Faces Difficult Audience

Nixon's defense of the Eisenhower administration last month was before the Iron and Steel Institute in New York. It was all out, unqualified by reservations or doubts. Next came the vice president's address June 5 at Asheville, N.C., before the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

He faced a more difficult audience the next day here in Washington. The occasion was a grass roots Republican conference summoned to harmonize party differences over President Eisenhower's big spending budget. Preliminary regional conferences had established the fact of disharmony and disapproval among local party leaders.

Nixon chose to champion in that speech the modern Republicanism to which party conservatives object. His advice was that the Republicans should cease squabbling among themselves and devote their energies to battling Democrats. As in New York in May, Nixon aligned himself firmly with the administration and its policies.

Urgent Support Plea

To the women assembled in Asheville, Nixon directed an urgent plea for support of the administration with special emphasis on three hotly controversial subjects:

1. National defense spending.
2. Foreign military and economic aid.
3. The pending civil rights bill.

His most recent speech was Sunday night before the graduating class of the University of Michigan. In that address, Nixon defended Eisenhower's decision to aid Communist Poland, and spoke for moderation in any legislation to curb labor union abuses — the position taken by the Eisenhower administration.

By these speeches and others to come, Nixon is identifying himself as an administration candidate for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination. By so identifying himself, Nixon is sacrificing some conservative Republican support and he is aware of that.

The Woman's View—

Librarian Specializes In Bible Questions

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP) —If you have a question about the Scriptures, check with Margaret Hills, a woman with an encyclopedic mind.

Miss Hills presides over one of the most unusual libraries in the world — a library devoted solely to the Bible. Part of her job with the American Bible Society is to answer the dozens of questions which daily come into its New York headquarters from all parts of the world.

Gay Pauley

It used to be crossword puzzle addicts who kept her and her two assistants busy. "Now," said Miss Hill, "television quiz shows and people just plain trying to settle arguments, keep us on our toes."

Her department receives its share of amusing queries. One recent caller wanted to know where in the Bible he could find the verse about "the three wise men of Gotham." Said Miss Hills, "He had the wrong wise men. He apparently was referring to an old rhyme about the men of Gotham who went to sea in a bowl. The Bible doesn't tell us how many wise men there were anyway."

Questions often follow the news, she said. If a statesman makes a reference to the Scriptures, the Society is deluged with calls about where the quote appeared, and if it were used correctly.

She said she has noticed no particular increase in the number of calls or letters since the Rev. Billy Graham opened his New York crusade. But the volume in recent years has been higher, she said, indicating more readers of a book which long has been the world's best seller.

Miss Hills, who has been at the Society 30 years, said the most frequent question is, in how many languages has the Bible been printed? The answer: The whole book has been published in 210 languages, some part of it in 1,169.

Languages include everything from the Pitjantjatjara of an Australian aborigine tribe to the Navajo of the American Indian. The translation of the New Testament into Navajo is the Society's latest work.

At the White House—

Navy Jets Amaze Ike

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UP) — Backstairs at the White House (Seaborne Division):

President Eisenhower, in a brief cruise aboard the Navy's largest fighting ship, the 60,000-ton supercarrier Saratoga, saw a number of spectacular demonstrations of aerial offense and defense.

But the thing that impressed him most, according to the officers who were with him for hours on the flag bridge, was the speed and ease with which big jet bombers and fighters took off and landed. The Chief Executive frequently remarked to the men around him that he was amazed by the smoothness of the operation.

The Saratoga, during the President's cruise, had 81 planes aboard. She can carry 100 or slightly more.

The President saw take-offs from four steam catapults and also the more conventional running take-off from about half the length of the deck.

During one take-off operation, four jets were fired into the air from the forward steam catapults within a few seconds of each other. The President, an old Army man himself, was deeply impressed. He turned to an admiral standing at his elbow and exclaimed, "Man, look at those fellows go."

The Navy, as does virtually every other government agency, delights in making an impressive case for itself by citing almost unbelievable statistics in volume.

Here are some of the more breath-taking items about the Saratoga:

Her extreme width is 259½ feet wide enough to set two of the largest liners in the American merchant fleet — the SS United States and the SS America side-by-side on her flight deck...

A total of 115,232,295 pounds of steel went into her construction ...she has 2,000 telephones aboard.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, who was aboard with the President, reflected the current government economy moves in his questions concerning the Navy's big surface-to-surface guided missile, the Regulus.

Wilson was told in response to his pointed inquiry that the Regulus could be reused from 50 to 75 times. It is flown by remote control as a target drone for fleet gunners and fighter pilots. It can be flown to and from a land base without damage.

This was not the case last week. The secretary was said to have winced when Fury jet fighters from the Saratoga blasted a Regulus into the sea with their Sidewinder rockets.

The Sidewinder, as the President saw, is a devilish contraption. This missile homes on the infra red rays emitted from the intensely hot tail exhaust of a jet-operated aircraft or missile and frequently destroys its target by slamming right up the tail pipe of its target and exploding inside the quarry.

ANNUAL AWARDS DAY — Many women received awards for their service to the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital as members of the Ladies Auxiliary yesterday at the luncheon held at Monongahela Valley Country Club. Pictured (l. to r.) are Mrs. Fred Campana, publicity chairman, Mrs. T. C. Montgomery, president and Mrs. Robert Evans, social chairman, who was in charge of yesterday's party.

C-M Hospital Auxiliary Members Receive Awards

Women of valley towns, who contribute their time and work for the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital were honored yesterday afternoon when the Hospital Auxiliary held the annual awards luncheon at the Monongahela Valley Country Club. Mrs. T. C. Montgomery, president, extended the welcome and the hospital prayer was read by the members led by Mrs. Curtis Patterson.

Mrs. Montgomery read a philosophy on volunteer hospital workers and then luncheon was served. The social chairman, Mrs. Ralph Evans, was introduced and after her greeting she introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Robert Langstaff, of Donora, who gave two humorous readings.

Mrs. Montgomery then presented past president pins to Mrs. A. S. Sickman, Mrs. J. W. Gordon, Mrs. Henry Bawin, Mrs. Henry Rossomme and Mrs. Hubert Hodgson.

Receiving 50 hour pins were Mrs Paul Argenson, Mrs. Bruno Bassi, Mrs. Edith Blythe, Mrs. Lawrence Buchanon, Mrs. Joseph Buchko, Mrs. Fred Campana, Mrs. John Church, Mrs. Samuel Crawford, Mrs. Ernest Compton, Mrs. Arthur Cramer, Mrs. Arthur Feldman, Mrs. Mathias France, Mrs. Henry Giles, Mrs. Leonard Glasgow, Mrs. Joseph Heizlsouer, Mrs. Alex Irvine, Mrs. Daniel Jenkins, Mrs. Herbert Krause, Mrs. Wilbur Metcalfe, Mrs. Wilbert Myers, Mrs. Curtis Patterson, Mrs. Victor Riva, Mrs. Austin Shipe, Mrs. Michael Skirpan, Mrs. Francis Smith, Mrs. Walter Spragg, Mrs. Alfred Simonazzi, Mrs. James Stewart, Mrs. Evan Thomas, Mrs. Harry Torbert, Mrs. Melvin Tubin and Mrs. Elmer Wolfe, who had previously earned these awards but were not present to accept them when they were given at a regular meeting

One Hundred Hours

Pins for 100 hours service were presented to Mrs. Campana, Mrs. William Clipman, Mrs. Henry Giles, Mrs. Wilbur Metcalfe, Mrs. Wilbert Myers, Mrs. Michael Popson, Jr., Mrs. James Sellew, Mrs Austin Shipe, Mrs. Alfred Simonazzi, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Ben Trnavsky, Mrs. Melvin Tubin and Mrs. John Wolfe.

Members who had already received 100 hour pins and had worked an additional 100 hours were awarded blue stripes. They were Mrs. Blythe, Mrs Gordon, Mrs. Irvine, Mrs. Daniel Jenkins, Mrs. Popson, Jr., Mrs. Francis Slezak, Mrs. Francis Smith, Mrs. Russell Stone.

Gold stripes awarded for 200 hours of volunteer work during the year went to Mrs. Roy Balmer, Mrs. Bawin, Mrs. Buchanon, Mrs. James Currie, Mrs. Helen Dolan, Mrs. Charles Dunham, Mrs. Frantz, Mrs. Glasgow, Mrs. Hodgson, Mrs. John LaCarte, Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. Paul Nicoden.

Three Hundred Hours

Special recognition was given Mrs. Walter Spragg for more than 300 hours. Receiving 50 hour pins in 1956 were Mrs. Lawrence Cosner, Mrs. Ralph Evans, Mrs. Charles King, Mrs. Ralph Koebler, Mrs. F. V. Lair, Mrs. Charles Mc Chesney, Mrs. Russell Ruff, Mrs. Hammel Spedden and Mrs. Samuel Lucent.

The total amount presented to the Hospital in cash and equipment since the beginning of the new wing by the auxiliary was reported at $49,345.97 and accumulative hours worked by 89 members in 1956 were 8,913¾.

Members were asked to send cards to Mrs. Hodgson, in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital and Mrs. Bruno Bassi, who is in Magee, Pittsburgh.

New Members

Special recognition was given to Mrs. Michael Fasekas, Mrs. Charles Hook, Mrs. Joseph Buch and Mrs. John Razzando, who are new members and earned 50 hour pins in the short time they have belonged to the group.

Mrs. Wilbur Metcalfe won a special prize and guest prizes were won by Mrs. Victor Riva, Mrs. Howard McCrory, Mrs. Alex Irvine, Mrs. Fasekas, Mrs. John Swan, Mrs. Wilbur Fletcher, Mrs. Charles McChesney, Mrs. Elmer Wolfe, and Mrs. James Stewart.

Sweet peas and other flowers formed the centerpiece on the guest table and there were also floral decorations on the other tables. The programs and favors were in the form of a paper glove extending "the hand of friendship".

Reunion Plans Announced by Class of 1937

At a recent meeting of the committee planning the reunion for the Monessen High School graduating class of 1937 progress reports were given. It was announced that final plans cannot be made until all reservations have been returned.

Local classmates are asked to mail their reservations to Mrs. Grace Kachmarik, 625 Rostraver St. and the dealine set for all reservations is June 21.

The reunion will be in the form of a dinner dance at Twin Coaches on July 7. There will be a "get acquainted" hour from 5 to 6 p. m. and dancing from 8 p. m. with the serving of dinner from 6 to 8.

The next committee meeting will be June 21, at 7:30 in the firemen's room at the City Building.

B.P.W. Members Installation Set Wednesday

The Monessen Business and Professional Women's Club will have the annual installation dinner at the Pittsburgh Playhouse on Wednesday evening in the talent room. Mrs. Frank Costa will be installed president to succeed Miss Catharine Harris.

After the meeting and private dinner the women will attend the showing of the musical "Off The Top".

All those planning to attend are asked to meet at the bus terminal at 5:30 p. m. on Wednesday.

LOCALS

Mrs. Anthony Schmitt and daughters, Renee and Nancy, of Donora, along with Mrs. Russell Smock, of Knox Ave., were weekend guests in Salem, Ohio, where they attended the High School graduation of Connie Kraft, sister Mrs. Schmitt and former resident of Monessen.

The Ladies Aid Society of St. Paul Lutheran Church will meet on Thursday afternoon at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. Anna Barton, 1228 Rostraver St. and the co-hostess will be Mrs. John Barton.

The United Workers Class of the First Christian Church will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Anderson, of 34 McKee Ave. this evening.

Mrs. Michael Sebatko, of Monessen Highway, has been confined to her home for a week by illness.

Mrs. Jesse Wilson, of Schoonmaker Ave., is a patient in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Mon-Char-Belles Hold Meet at Peasant Village

A recent meeting of the Mon-Char-Belles was held at Peasant Village with Eleanor Suchy, of Charleroi, as hostess. Cards were played and winning the high score awards were Lois Lauderback and Sis Poprosky, who also won the floating prize. Betty Smerezniak won the third award.

Luncheon was served and Sis Poprosky, of Monessen, was named next hostess.

St. Nicholas Sisterhood in June Meeting

The final meeting for the summer season was held by the Sisterhood of St. Nicholas Ukrainian Church on Sunday evening in the Church Hall. A prayer by the president, Mrs. Antoinette Kritsky, opened the session.

Routine reports were given during the business session. A Stanley demonstration was set for tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock at the hall. The members and their friends were invited to be present.

The annual picnic was set for Sunday, July 28 and it will be open to the members of the Parish and their friends.

There will be no meetings in July and August.

A social hour followed and games were played with prizes being awarded to the winners.

Luncheon was served by the committee with Mrs. Pauline Chomosh as acting chairman assisted by Mrs. Mary Bachuchin, Mrs. Mary Berkovitz, Mrs. Mary Bogden, Mrs. Helen Chayka and Mrs. Tekla Chomko.

The next meeting will be held in September.

Entertained at Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. James Balog entertained at a dinner party on Saturday evening for the employes of Balog Homes and their wives. The affair was held at Twin Coaches and covers were laid for 20.

An informal social time followed and the group was entertained by the Dean Martin floor show.

Summer Frolic Set At St. Mary Church

Final plans have been completed for a summer frolic to be held at St. Mary's Greek Catholic Church Hall beginning on Thursday and concluding on Sunday evening.

It will be open to the general public and there will be booths for the adults and entertainment for the younger set. It will include turtle races, fish pond and other such games.

A parcel post booth will offer all kinds of packages from the United States and Canada and many have been received from celebrities.

The linen and apron booths will have many articles to appeal to women including hand edged handkerchiefs. The stage of the hall will be decorated and used as an "ice cream parlor". There will be a baked goods department with freshly baked goods each night of the frolic and advance orders are being taken by Sue Sowko.

Specialties Set

On Thursday evening, opening night of the festivities, there will be cards played and a prize will be given for each table and on Friday and Saturday there will be games played with prizes awarded for each game.

A card party on Sunday evening will end the card party and there will also be special prize projects conducted. Guest awards will be made nightly.

Mrs. Agnes Popovich is the general chairman with the following serving as booth chairmen. Sue Sowko, Bertha Patrick, Helen Mayernick, Ann Dzatko, Irene Skoczlas, Ann Kiseda, Rose Kiseda, Ann Beres, Ann Kossar, Alice Fordanich, Mary Twardy, Josephine Yatchyshyn, Gloria Mahalko, Ann Mahalko and Ann Dragan.

Today's Sports Parade—

Carmen Basilio Is Looking for Big Pay

By OSCAR FRALEY

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (UP) — Bulging-browed Carmen Basilio knelt on a sun-swept boat dock as the "admiral" of the Thousand Islands fleet poised a sword over his close-cropped head and prepared to "knight" him.

A broad grin swept over the battle-scarred features of the welterweight champion and, looking up at the "admiral" and his sword, Basilio quipped:

"Just like all these fight managers. Ready to take his cut."

Which may explain in part why the one-time onion farmer is hoping today to get an opportunity to destroy a long-time idol.

Carmen Basilio needs a "big pay-day."

Even when you're the champion of the world, it is no guarantee that you are financially "loaded." And so it is with Basilio, an iron-hard terror in the ring but a butter-soft "touch" on the outside. He has had his share of lucrative fights but the circle of pleading palms is large and Basilio is too nice for his own good.

Basilio Has A Plan

Bringing him face to face with the necessity of blasting aside the man who long has been his fistic idol, Sugar Ray Robinson, another of the mighty who found that the riches of the ring are difficult to retain.

Basilio thinks he can do it, too.

"Robinson was one of the great fighters," Basilio analyzed with the admiration of a crowding stagger for the master boxer. "But he has got to be over the hill and I know I can beat him."

There were those who thought that Robinson should never have come back. But he, too, needed money and the id-time hunger revived a certain amount of the ancient talents so that he twice fought his way back to the middleweight title, the last time against another Basilio - type crowder named Gene Fullmer.

"He was lucky," Basilio says. "Coming off the ropes he threw a desperation hook and caught Fullmer coming in. Anbody had to go when hit with such a lucky combination. But I saw him in the dressing room 15 minutes later and he still was huffing and puffing."

Five Rounds Of Danger

So Basilio has it worked out in his mind just how he will beat Robinson—if given the chance.

"He's dangerous only for four or five rounds now," Basilio explains. "Then he's got to run out of gas. So I'll have to feint and move him, keep on top of him and never let him rest. If I stood around and let him make the fight, he'd have a chance. If I stay on him, he won't."

"If he doesn't come to terms soon," Basilio threatened, "I'm going to take the winner of the Kid Gavilan-Vince Martinez fight and defend the welterweight title against whichever one wins.

"I just can't wait too long," he added. "I've got to have a big pay day."

City Girls Bowling Champs

Fifth Ave. Wins 1957 Tourney

Monessen's Fifth Avenue bowling team reigned today as the undisputed women's champion in the Pittsburgh district.

The city girls clinched that honor last night by winning their third straight Metropolitan Tournament title in Pittsburgh.

Only league champions are invited to that event and the winner is regarded as the best in the area.

By winning the tourney an unprecedented third time, the Monessen girls retired the huge rotating trophy.

In last night's play, the Fifth Avenue girls had their own way. They finished first in the opening round, spilling 2064 pins. Knox Court of Pittsburgh was second with 2046 while Irwin Jacktown Hotel had 1743.

Title Round

In the title round, Monessen Fifth spilled 2027 pins compared to 1637 for the Knox Court team.

Babe Kroskie led Monessen in the title play with a 160-449. Mary Palm had a 190-471 in opening round action.

Members of the Fifth Avenue team are Mary Palm, Jean Sandis, Lucy Faltz, Rose Janotta, Helen Skeloski, Pauline Burdock and captain Babe Kroskie.

City Softball Meeting Tonight

There will be a very important meeting of the City Softball League tonight at 8 o'clock in the Ravens Club.

Every team MUST have a representative present or a fine will be assessed.

Linder Hopes for Better Luck in RRA Races

Dick Linder doesn't believe in jinxes. But he can't help feeling that Lady Luck is overdue to smile his way at Washington tonight.

Linder has won at every other track on the Pittsburgh Racing Assn. circuit in the last 10 days but his last (and only) win at Washington was April 31.

Plagued by mechanical ailments, everything's gone wrong for Linder including the fact that his No. 1 rival — Herb Scott — has turned Arden Downs into his own gold mine.

Including the feature of last week, Scott has won three races at Washington — the main reason why he's managed to stay in the PRA point race.

It's still a two-way battle for the top spot in the standings between Linder and Scott.

PRA point standings follow:

Dick Linder, 594; Herb Scott, 578; Ed Fiola, 40; Lee Stover, 384; Jack Steffen, 344; Pete Panaia, 296; Don Dahle, 295; Cliff Hutson, 273; Dick Swartzlander, 251; Fred Mathias, 247.

Bill Mitnick Stops Visitors on Five Hit Pitching Job

The Monessen Ozarks slammed arch-rival Charleroi, 7-2, in Mon Valley League action last night, but there was sobering news to dim the celebration.

Bill Mitnick, the Ozarks one-man pitching staff, has received his draft notice. He is scheduled to undergo a physical examination today.

This season, Mitnick has been the only Monessen pitcher able to win with consistency. Without him, the Ozarks just might as well "be dead."

That fact was made clear again last night as the lanky right-hander tossed a brilliant five hitter against the Charleroians. He fanned three and walked just one.

Mahalko Homers

The only Charleroi runs came in the second inning. And it was a Monessen product — Nick Mahalko — who engineered the tallies.

Roy Barli singled off of Carl Crawley's glove and came around when Mahalko lost one of Mitnick's fast balls over the right center fence.

Monessen moved ahead with three runs in the fourth inning, finally getting to Charleroi starter Fred Briggs. Pappy Johnson reached first on an error. Mike Young singled him to second and both runners moved up a base on a wild pitch.

Paul Jezioro, an Ozark catching recruit from Fairmont State Teachers, came through with a clutch double. Ron Danko promptly singled in Jezioro to put the Ozarks ahead for good.

In the fifth, Monessen paraded four runs across. Tom Rotherman started things by making first on an error. Crawley singled but Rotherman overran second and was tossed out on a fine throw by George Zuraw.

Young Homers

Johnson singled and Young followed with a round-tripper. Jezioro kept things going with a walk. Danko singled him to third and a sacrifice roller brought him home.

Cro-Ams, PNA Game Winds Up In 7-0 Forfeit

A heated argument and subsequent forfeit spiced last night's City Softball League activity.

Veteran Umpire Ralph Trilli stopped the tussle between the Cro-Ams and PNA in the sixth inning, awarding the contest to the Cro-Ams by a 7-0 forfeit score.

At the time, the two teams were deadlocked, 4-4.

Trilli halted proceedings when an unidentified PNA player refused to leave the field after he had been thumbed out of the game.

That stirred a real fuss and chances are the issue will be turned over to league officials.

Tonight's attraction will send the Ravens against ULBA.

Pirates Finally Top Cincinnati, 5 to 2

PITTSBURGH (UP)—After 11 months and 15 straight losses, the Pittsburgh Pirates might well have believed they're not the team to beat the Cincinnati Redlegs.

But the Bucs broke the spell Monday night with a 5-2 triumph pitched by Vernon Law. Law was the victor the last time Pittsburgh topped the Redlegs back on July 22, 1956.

Law recovered from a two-run homer by Wally Post in the opening inning to post the four-hit victory. A single and a triple in the fourth were the last hits off the righthander.

Bill Virdon paced the Pirate batting attack with two hits that brought home three Pittsburgh tallies.

Law hit a third inning double that scored the first Pirate run.

The Pirates broke the 2-2 tie in the sixth on pair of singles and a double by Gene Freese, his second of the evening. An intentional walk filled the bases to set the stage for Virdon's two-run scoring double.

The Pirates and Redlegs play tonight with Luis Arroyo (2-5) or Paul Smith (0-1) for Pittsburgh against Don Gross (4-2).

Score Scheduled To Undergo More Vision Tests

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP) — Cleveland pitcher Herb Score was to undergo another series of vision tests today before learning when he can return to the mound.

The southpaw, who says his vision remains "fuzzy at long distances," indicated he would go to his home in Lake Worth, Fla., if eye specialist Dr. Charles I. Thomas ordered another long period of rest.

Dr. Thomas said he would give the 24-year-old pitcher Senlien tests to determine how far along the injured eye has progressed.

Last week the specialist said it may be four or five more weeks before Score could begin working out, but he added the tests scheduled for today would give him a chance to be more certain about the length of the recuperating period.

Score returned to Cleveland Monday after spending 12 days at his uncle's home in Hagerstown, Md.

He had been hospitalized three weeks, after being hit by a line drive off the bat of New York infielder Gil McDougald May 7.

In his first visit to the Cleveland clubhouse since his injury he told his teammates, "I feel like putitng a uniform on right now."

Two Sweeps in Bowling Action

Blooming Mill blanked Construction and Pipe Shop swept over Bundling Room in Pittsburgh Steel Industrial Bowling League action last night.

In other matches, Field Fence won a pair from Fabric, Finishing Side Electric took two from Blast Furnace and Open Hearth topped Rod Mill twice.

Scoring leaders were George Senitta, 211-476; Mike Nicksich, 191-517; Charles Ellin, 196-457; Joe Koget, 170-460; Andy Dacko, 166-469; Don Wilson, 179-449; Leonard Pusskar, 181-470; Bill Viviani, 173-470; Art Palm, 177-495; and Joe Martin, 193-492.

Standings show Pipe Shop, 6-0; Blooming Mill, 6-0; Open Hearth, 4-2; Rod Mill, 4-2; Fabric, 3-3; Finishing, 3-3; Field Fence, 2-4; Blast Furnace, 1-5; Bundling Room, 1-5; and Construction, 0-6.

Unbeaten Boxer Gets Baker Next

NEW YORK (UP) — Unbeaten Alex Miteff of Argentina, who registered his ninth straight victory Monday night, was matched today for a 10-rounder with former heavyweight contender Bob Baker of Pittsburgh at St. Nicholas Arena, July 8.

Miteff, weighing 203¾ pounds, gave a thorough trouncing to Willi Besmanoff of Germany, 190½, in their TV 10-rounder at St. Nick's Monday night. He won the unanimous decision: 7-2-1, 6-3-1, 9-1.

Besmanoff, former ranking contender, was bleeding from both brows and from the nose at the finish, after aggressive Miteff had marched into him with a hooking attack to body and head in every round. Miteff suffered a nick at the corner of his left eye in the seventh.

Spahn Credits 'Leanness' for His Durability

By RUDY CERNKOVIC

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Warren Spahn, a self-styled "hot weather" pitcher attributes his durability to his leanness which gives him an advantage over the "big" hurler.

The 36-year-old southpaw ace of the Milwaukee Braves is 6-feet tall but weighs only 175 pounds.

"Being too big can be a hindrance for pitchers," Spahn reflected. "I'm not big and I believe that gives me a psychological edge when the temperature goes up.

"Take last year, for example. I won 12 or 13 games after the All-Star Game. Of course, I don't overlook conditioning as a prime requisite for an athlete."

Spahn has won six games this year and finished them all. Last year he went the distance 20 times and turned in a 20-game victory performance for the seventh time in his career.

Spahn posted his 39th shutout last week against the Pittsburgh Pirates to near the 40 record mark for the National League left - handers shared by Eppa Rixey and Larry French. He already has surpassed the shutout totals achieved by such pitching immortals as Carl Hubbell, Burleigh Grimes, Rube Marquard and Dazzy Vance.

Real Pleasure

"Breaking the southpaw record will be a pleasure," Spahn said. "But my ambition is 300 victories. Only 91 more to go."

The fast ball that characterized a younger Spahn is seen only occasionally these days.

"But I like to think that I still have it," the pitcher smiled. "My sinker has developed to a point where the best a batter can do is to hit the ball into the ground and he doesn't go for extra bases too often."

Knee operations after the 1954 and 1955 campaigns hindered Spahn's effectiveness for a spell.

"I think that's where my fast ball went—into my knee," he quipped.

Musial Set to Break Record As 'Iron Man'

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Stan (The Man) Musial will tie the National League record of playing in 822 consecutive games when he takes the field against the Philadelphia Phillies here tonight.

But becoming Stan (The Iron Man) Musial wasn't very exciting for him. Nor was he much impressed about breaking the record when he plays against the Phils Wednesday night — barring accident. He's more interested in getting his 3,000th hit.

"That's my chief target in the record books now," he said.

Probably some of the cause for the apparent lack of enthusiasm over the iron man feat was the fact that Stan has been looking forward to erasing marks from the record book for a long time. He has been overlooking no chances since he first hit the big leagues.

Act While Young

"After a certain number of years, a player gets to the point where he has a chance at these figures," Musial explained. "One thing is—you've got to do what you can while you're young. That's why I think I am reaching these figures in about 15 years that many players didn't reach until 20."

The new consecutive games mark he'll put in the National League handbooks Wednesday night is the only one of the feats he has accomplished already or is nearing which makes him a cinch for a top Hall of Fame berth at some future date.

The mark he's now looking forward to—the 3,000th hit — could come by next May. He now has 2,850 (17th on the all-time list) and if he matches last season's total of 184, he will wind up with 2,965 come September.

Donora Defeats New Eagle, 12-3

Donora easily battered New Eagle, 12-3, in Mon Valley League action last night.

Melvin Mills led the winners attack with a triple, double and single in three trips to the plate. For New Eagle, Gene Uhlman had three hits in four trips.

California Tops Penn State in NCAA Tourney

OMAHA, Neb. (UP) — California, which has allowed its opponents only two runs in three tournament games, puts its unbeaten record on the line tonight in the fourth round of the College World Series here.

The Golden Bears play once-beaten Iowa State. Penn State and Notre Dame, both beaten once in the double elimination tourney, will meet in the afternoon.

California downed its third victim Monday as sophomore righthander Kin Elliott shut out previously unbeaten Penn State, 8-0, on four hits.

Chuck Symeon hurled a five-hitter as Notre Dame blanked Texas, 9-0, and Jim Kudlinski fired a three-hitter as Iowa State dropped Connecticut, 5-2.

The losses put Texas and Connecticut out of the tourney.

To End Wed.

The series is scheduled to end Wednesday, but it can be extended to Thursday if California is beaten tonight or Wednesday.

The Golden Bears' victory over Penn State was the first setback for the Nittany Lions this season. The Lions had built up a 21-game win string and were the only major college baseball team with an unblemished record until Monday night.

California scored once in the first, four times in the second, twice in the third and once again in the sixth as Elliott sailed to victory. Tom Palma whacked an inside-the-park homer and a single in three trips to the plate to lead the winners.

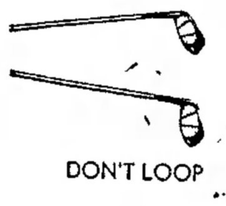
DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF



DON'T LOOP

Keep It Simple

Looping the club at the top amounts to changing the position of the hands after the true backswing is completed and before the downswing is started. This faulty hand action causes the clubhead to describe a sort of loop. Most pro's call this looping action "skywriting."

Keep in mind that the gold swing is a simple, one-piece affair. Think of it as taking the hands back to the best hitting position in one continuous motion on the backswing — and starting down from that position. When you throw in extra motion, you are making it that much harder to acquire a consistent swing.

A simple swing that does the same thing time after time is ideal. Remember, the player with a complicated swing is an inconsistent player. And that's not good.

Hogan Favored In National Open

By LEO H. PETERSEN

TOLEDO, Ohio (UP)—Although he admits he has been playing badly, Ben Hogan was installed as the 5-1 favorite today to score an unprecedented fifth victory in the National Open golf championship, which gets underway Thursday at the re-designed Inverness course.

Old pro Jimmy Demaret, young Peter Thomson and Doug Ford were equal second choices at 8-1; defending champion Cary Middlecoff, Julius Boros and Sam Snead were bracketed at 10-1, and Dow Finsterwald, Gene Littler, Jackie Burke, Arnold Palmer and Jay Hebert were 15-1 longshots.

For the other 150 men who will seek gold and glory in this 57th edition of one of the world's greatest tournaments it was "bet your money and take your pick."

Two Practice Rounds

Hogan already has turned in two practice rounds at Inverness, and the only thing you could say for both rounds was that they were consistent. Each time the little Texan went out in 35 and returned in 38 for identical 73s.

The par figures for the 6,919-yard Inverness course are 34-36—70.

Leaders Lose in Little Loop Play

Obviously there's no sure thing in Monessen's Little League.

Leaders in both the American and National Divisions bit the dust yesterday.

Park Service clipped VFW, 6-3, in American play, while CIO tripped the Elks, 4-3 in the National division.

Happily for the leaders, both runner-up teams also lost. Lions handled Legion, 11-4; and Pages hammered the Ravens, 1-8.

Bruce Nedrow, a big fast-baller, stopped VFW on four hits, fanning 11. At bat, Jim Coccara had a double and two singles while Nedrow came through with a two run double.

For the Vets, Mike Dropp had a pair of singles.

Outslug Ravens

Pages scored in every inning but the first to outslug the Ravens, 13-8. Eric Crabtree, who fanned nine while earning credit for the pitching win, helped his own cause with a homer, double and single. George Kuhn contributed a double and single.

CIO stopped the Elks behind crafty six hit pitching but Buster Karenchak, who fanned a dozen.

Ralph Nuzzaci had a double and single for the winners while Danny Bergstedt collected a pair of bingles for the losers.

Lions romped over the Legion 11-4, as Dick Kunsa and Frank Destefano each stroked out three singles. Bruce Davis had a single and double for the losers.

Braves Trip Dodgers, 3-1, as Bob Buhl Tosses Four Hitter

The Milwaukee Braves are the majors' No 1 enigma this year because they're playing like also-rans against the weak teams but look like champions against their chief National League rivals.

The Braves again rose to the challenge of a top contender Monday night when Bob Buhl's four-hit pitching and Ed Mathews' two-run homer gave them a 3-1 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers. The win put the Braves into a third-place tie with the Dodgers and moved them within a game and a half of the first-place Cincinnati Redlegs, who lost to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-2.

Tigers Take Yanks

The Detroit Tigers walloped the New York Yankees, 9-4, for their sixth victory in eight meetings with the world champions and the Boston Red Sox clubbed the Kansas City As, 11-4, in the only other big league activity.

Buhl, who beat the Dodgers eight times last season, did it for the second time this year although six walks kept him in frequent trouble. The big right hander struck out five for his fifth victory of the year.

Mathews, who hit only 218 against Brooklyn last season, put the Braves ahead with his third-inning homer and singles by Bill Bruton, Johnny Logan and Hank Aaron produced their other run in the eighth. Don Newcombe suffered the defeat and now stands 4-6 for the year. Gil Hodges had three of the Dodgers' four hits and raised his league-leading average to .371.

End Loss String

The Pirates ended a string of 15 straight losses to Cincinnati dating back to last July 22 when Vern Law turned in a four-hitter. Law yielded a single to lead-off man Johnny Temple and Wally Post followed with a homer to give the Redlegs a quick 2-0 bulge, but he was tagged for only two more hits the rest of the way. Bill Virdon knocked in three runs with a single and a double to lead the Pirates' 10-hit attack.

Charley Maxwell smashed his ninth and 10th homers and drove in five runs to pace Detroit's 10-hit attack on three Yankee pitchers. Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn also homered for the Tigers while Mickey Mantle hit No. 15 and Hank Bauer homered for New York. Frank Lary got credit for the victory, although he needed help from Al Aber in the eighth. Bob Turley suffered the loss.

Dick Gernert's two homers and a double drove in six runs for the Red Sox, who have scored 28 runs in three straight victories.

Willard Nixon scattered 10 hits, including Hal Smith's eighth home run, to win his fourth game while Alex Kellner suffered his fourth loss.

Pastrano Meets Harris Tonight

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—Schoolteacher Roy Harris, looking for greener pastures, and dance master Willie Pastrano who figures to give him a lesson, square off in an epic heavyweight brawl tonight.

The 10-round meeting of the two was set for Sam Houston Coliseum.

The hassle could produce the chief challenger to the winner of the world heavyweight title fight between champion Floyd Patterson and Hurricane Jackson, set for July 29.

Harris, who is Texas' heavyweight champion and undefeated in his 20 pro fights, will have to do it the hard way. Pastrano gets a rematch in Miami within 60 days if he loses tonight.

Pastrano, who'll weigh in at 186 pounds, is rated the No. 3 contender. He hasn't fought since 1953. Harris, 190, is rated No. 9 nationally.

Suggs Rallies To Win Ladies PGA Golf Title

By JOHN CARROLL

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Louise Suggs, who thought she "didn't have a ghost of a chance," won the $7,500 Ladies' PGA championship Monday at Churchill Valley Country Club with a sizzling two-under men's par 68 that tied the course record for women and set a new mark with a three-under-par 31 on the final nine.

"I am completely overcome with what happened," the smiling Miss Suggs, of Sea Island, Ga., said accepting a check for $1,316 in top prize money."

The LPGA president, who proved to her fellow members who was boss by erasing a three-stroke deficit going into the final round to win by the same margin over a "tensed-up" Wiffi Smith, said she honestly didn't believe she could win.

Playing Bad Golf

"I had been playing bad golf all week, but in the final round my drives turned straight, my irons were working and I surely won't complain about my putts," she admitted before taking a three week breather. She plans to follow the rest of the touring women pros into the Ladies' National Open the last week of June at the Wing Foot Club in Mamaroneck, N.Y.

Sportsmen's Corner

State Sportsman Show At Fayette Gun Club

Pennsylvania's State Sportsmen Association will hold its 66th annual tournament at the Fayette Gun Club near Uniontown.

The dates: June 13, 14, 15 and 16.

Prize money will total $3,625. There will be 15 state trophies six American Target Assn. trophies and three Fayette Gun Club trophies at stake.

Charley Oberholtzer is president of the PSSA, while William (Deacon) Whitby is president of the Fayette group.

The first day's program (June 13) will feature three major events: 100 16-yard targets, four divisions; 50 distance handicap targets, and 25 pair doubles targets. Shooting starts at 11:30 a.m.

The second day's activities (June 14) will begin at 9:30 a.m. and features two major events: 100 16-yard targets, four divisions, and state amateur doubles championship. George Newmaster, Lebanon, is defending champion.

Third Day Program

The third day's shooting (June 15) will be for the state championships. Walter Penrose, West Chester, is defending champion. Events will be held in Classes AA, A, B, C and D. Shooting starts at 9:30 a.m.

Male resident, women's championship, junior and sub-junior titles will be awarded on the third day.

The fourth day's action will get underway at 8:30 a.m. with the feature being the Pennsylvania amateur distance handicap championship. Jack Dunn, Boston, Pa., is defending titlist.

Safety Zone Signs—

Many property owners participating in the state Game Commission's 21-year-old Farm-Game Project Program agree that safety zone signs have effectively accomplished their purpose.

The number of irresponsible or forgetful persons who hunt or shoot illegally or dangerously within the 150 yard zone around farm buildings on the Projects is very low. Though placarding the zone around buildings is not required by law, experience has shown that state posters pointedly remind hunters of the 150 yard restriction cited in the Game Law. They cause the careless and the would-be miscreants to observe the distance requirement.

Acting on this knowledge, the Game Commission purchased in 1955, a few thousand safety zone posters specially designed for use by landowners who were not Farm-Game Cooperators. These were distributed that year by or through District Game Protectors and Deputies to 1,180 landowners whose properties totaled 12,948 acres. The people who received the signs agreed to leave their lands open to hunting, except for the safety zone area around their buildings.

This program proved so successful that last fall 1,522 farm owners whose lands remained open to hunting were provided the safety zone signs. These properties comprised 139,630 acres. Many of these acres were opened, or kept open, to public hunting only because of the protection the placards offered to humans, livestock and property.

A growing number of sportsmen's organizations, aware of the desired reaction to the placards, now provide safety zone signs to hunting season hosts in their club area prior to the small game season.

Most farmers who post No Trespass signs would permit others to hunt on much of their property if safety to humans, livestock and poultry were assured.

Providing free safety zone signs appears to be one of the answers to the problem of open land on which many persons may pursue the sport of hunting as in past.

Electronic Callers—

It is sometimes necessary for a wildlife agency to outlaw a hunting method, device or firearm to prevent serious inroads into the population of a certain bird or animal.

Now the question, whether to curtail the use of electronic waterfowl calling devices, is being studied by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, which is charged with wild waterfowl administration.

The type of call that prompted the study is a recording of sounds made by geese while feeding. In a number of east coast waterfowl hunting areas last fall this type recording lured large numbers of normally cautious honkers within shotgun range. It is feared the extended use of this device might threaten the preservation of the species.

James Kehr to Head Knights Council Here

The election of officers was held by Belle Vernon Council 3026 Knights of Columbus on Thursday evening in the school room of St. Sebastian Church and James Kehr was named president.

Elected to serve with him were Michael Semancik, deputy grand knight; William O'Hara, chancellor; Raymond Yakubac, recorder; Francis Horbake, treasurer; Charles Martin, advocate; Guy Winn, warden; Joseph Sabolek, inside guard; Rudy Halgas, outside guard; George Galiotto, three year trustee and Joseph Walker, two year trustee.

Michael Kara is serving a one year term as trustee.

Kehr named two appointive offices, Mike Yencsik, financial secretary and Charles Brown, lecturer.

The installation ceremonies will be held at a later date.

Pamela Winters Guest of Honor

Marking her eighth birthday anniversary, Pamela Winters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Winters, of Lynnwood, was honored recently at a party held at her home. There were 17 guests in attendance.

Games were played and receiving prizes were Mary Rita and Nancy Salvino and David Laird.

Pink and white was the color scheme for the luncheon appointments and the group joined in singing "Happy Birthday" before the decorated birthday cake was cut and served. Assisting Mrs. Winters in the serving was Mrs. Ross Chago, Pamela's maternal grandmother.

Pamela was presented with many gifts.

June Card Party At St. Sebastian

The June card party at St. Sebastian Church has been scheduled for Wednesday, June 19 in the school rooms. There will be various games played and prizes awarded. Luncheon will also be served.

The party is sponsored by the Ladies Guild and a large committee has been appointed to have charge.

Methodist Church Children In Annual Program Sunday

The children of the First Methodist Church presented their annual Children's Day program Sunday morning during the worship hour. The theme was "Living As Christian Neighbors."

Dorothy Ann Mateka played "What A Friend We Have in Jesus" for the prelude and processional. In the absence of the Children's Department superintendent, Mrs. M. C. Ferguson, Mrs. Paul Davison assistant, led the children's choir in the Call to Worship and the introit, "Loving Kindness". Invocation was given by the Rev. William Schatz, church pastor.

The choir and congregation sang "For the Beauty of the Earth" followed by the affirmation of Faith and the Gloria Patri. The offering was taken by junior boys and girls and the junior choir gave the offertory prayer, "We Give Thee But Thine Own". The congregation and choir sang the response, "Bless Thou the Gifts our Hands Have Brought".

Mrs. Davison welcomed the parents and friends and presented the program by departments introducing the teachers, who were in charge of the classes. Miss Edna McCully, nursery superintendent, assisted by Mrs. Frank Bello and Mary Ann Armstrong presented the nursery program. At the conclusion the children returned to the nursery, which is available each Sunday morning during the worship hour. Taking part were Donna Bainbridge, Kathy Bulger, Debbie Blair, Ricky Marshall, Joanne Bello, Louis Helterbran, Thomas Neil and Nancy Segin.

Kindergarten Program

The kindergarten program was presented by Mrs. Harold Philips and Mrs. Charles Mutuch. Gladys Dobson was the pianist. Taking part were John Loesei, Andrea and Christopher Peterson, Linda Kander, Michael Ferenez, George and Susan Wenick, Donna and Rebecca Mutuch, Neil Russell, Barry Criss, Linda Einhouse, Nancy Shuma, Joanne Althea Segin, Claire Ferguson and Patty Lou Bulger.

The first and second year primary students were under the direction of Betty Jo Costello and Miss Mateka, who used as their theme, "Our Home Today and the Customs". The third year primary, taught by Darlene Johnston used the theme "My Church". The Junior Choir sang the song. "Our Dear Home" and "What the Church Bells Say". Children taking part were Cheryl Helterbran, Jane Ferguson, Larry Batchelor, Justine Wasicek, Lois Bainbridge, Donnie Johnson, Louise Weil, Linda Bulger, Jeffrey Einhouse, Louis Wenick, Sally Criss, Danny Williams, Glenn Weil, Pamela Stephens, David Clark, Louis Gilliland, Johnnie Smith, Ruth Motchkoski, Anthony Geiotti.

Mrs. Aaron Reece's first junior class used the theme "How to Know What is Right" and Mrs. Thomas Sims theme was "What the Church Means to a Junior". Second year juniors, Mrs. C. W. Marsden, teacher, were represented by Jane Beazell, who gave a prayer for a "World Wide Neighborhood" and third year juniors, taught by Mrs. Davison interpreted the phrases of the Lord's Prayer and the congregation joined in repeating it.

The Junior Choir sang "Tell Me the Story of Jesus" and "What Love Does".

Juniors taking part were Robinette Jesick, Ellenne Raskey, Lynn Ferguson, Karen Evans, Paul Zubovic, Richard Glasgow, Marna Phillips, Cheryl Ferguson, Peggy Christopher, Paul Long, Wayne Shuma, Samuel Cover, Judy Grant, Darla Speers, Carol Reece and Ceridwen Kinsey.

After the closing hymn, "O Brother Man" and the benediction Miss Mateka played Cathedral Chimes for the postlude.

Brownies Spend Past Weekend At Laurel Park

Girls of Brownie Troop 26 and Brownie Troop 61 spent the weekend at Laurel Hill State Park. They were accompanied by their leaders, Mrs. Olga Miller and Mrs. Sally Richter, Mrs. Melba Woods, coleader of Troop 26, Rose Marie Galiotto, program aide, Mrs. Mary Pupilli and Mrs. Sadye Myers.

There were two guests, Sandy Pupilli and Nancy Miller from Intermediate Troop 6.

On Friday night the girls were taken on a hike, but on Saturday a camping program was exchanged for indoor activity due to the rainy weather. The party returned home on Sunday.

Next Saturday there will be no meeting, but on June 22, Mrs. Miller will meet with the girls, who are planning to attend Day Camp and the girls, who will be "Fly-Ups" this year.

Begins Season at Little Lake Theatre

Ed Kostelac, of Fairhope, began another season of summer stock by appearing in the opening presentation at Little Lake Theatre near Canonsburg on Route 19. The feature was "The Festival" and Mr. Kostelac played a character role. The production ended on Saturday night.

He is scheduled for several other appearances this summer the next being Time for Elizabeth, which will be staged in a few weeks.

Clair Brown New President Of Holy Name Society

Clair Brown was elected president of St. Sebastian R. C. Church Holy Name Society on Sunday morning at a meeting held in St. Sebastian School room. Brown will succeed Arthur LaPointe.

Also elected were Joseph Tinitori, first vice president; Paul Nagy, second vice president; James Kehr, secretary; Ross Fiora, marshall.

Elected delgates were Arthur LaPointe and Joseph Ferrari and alternates were Earl Neil and Michael Kara.

New officers will assume their duties immediately. After the election of officers, Thomas "Hank" Garde, Donora councilman and president of Local 3030 at Donora Mill, an outstanding Catholic layman, addressed the members on "Catholic Action".

LaPointe conducted a short business session during which plans for a lawn fete from July 8 to 13 were discussed. Co-chairman Joseph Barger, reported on this project.

It was also announced that the men will prepare and serve a breakfast for the women, who have done this job for the society each month.

There will be no communion breakfast in July due to the lawn fete activities, but the annual "Big Breakfast" will be scheduled in August. Plans will be announced later.

The Rev. Henry J. Murphy asked the invocation and benediction.

Bruce Bradley Honored Guest

Mrs. Betty Bradley, of 115 Vine St., entertained a group of 16 young friends at a party on Saturday marking the birthday anniversary of her son, Bruce.

Games were played and prizes were won by Gary Laird, Jamie Ferguson and Nancy Kirk of Pittsburgh.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. Bradley assisted by Mrs. C. G. Bradley, grandmother of the guest of honor and Audrey Lupori. The large birthday cake was topped with an Indian Village in miniature and each guest received a favor.

Bruce was presented with many gifts and guests attended from Belle Vernon, Pittsburgh and Finleyville.

Mrs. Stanley Benson, of Long Island, N. Y., and her mother, Mrs. Charles Beumier, of Fontaine L'eveque, Belgium, were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Burgoon, of Broad Ave. Mrs. Benson is the wife of an army buddy of Mr. Burgoon during World War II.

House Defeats Move Regulating Union Officials

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to require labor unions to file financial statements with the state Labor Relations Board and individual union members has been defeated in the House.

The Republican sponsored bill, bitterly opposed by Democrats who charged it was "anti-labor" failed Monday to muster the required 106 votes for passage and fell 85-108. Although GOP lawmakers did not debate against the measure, several joined with the Democrats to defeat the bill.

Rep. Willard F. Agnew Jr. (R-Allegheny) who co-sponsored the legislation, said it was designed to prevent any abuses by union leaders of membership-supported funds. The bill would have required annual fiscal reports from the unions after January, 1958 with copies going to union members.

TITO AND THE MRS. — Yugoslav President Tito and his wife, Jovanka Broz, dance together during a reception at the National Assembly in Skopije. They were roundly applauded as they glided about the floor. The occasion was in honor of Tito's eight-day visit to the Yugoslav province of Macedonia.

Poles Anxious To Get Look at U. S. Exhibit

POZNAN, Poland (UP)—Thousands of Poles pushed and shoved today to get a look at the American exhibit at the Poznan international fair and exlaimed in disbelief over such items as electric dishwashers and deep freezers.

The big pavilion hemispheres making the U.S. pavilion at the fair—the first American exhibition behind the Iron Curtain—drew many more visitors than did the exhibits from Russia and the other East European nations.

Most impressive was a display of "things the average American worker has in his home."

"I know America is wonderful," one man said as he came out of the exhibit which opened Sunday. "But I don't believe the ordinary man has a deep freeze, a radio, a television set, a car, a boat and goes skiing every winter in the Rockies."

But whether they believe it or not, the Poles were impressed. They watched fascinated as frozen fruit juice was whipped into drinkable conditions, as frozen waffles were popped in and out of electric toasters and as the automatic windows of American cars slid silently up and down.

Legion Auxiliary Reelects Officers for Coming Year

A summer and fall program was arranged during the business meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary to the Brightwell-Daugherty Post at its meeting Friday evening.

The affair started with a covered dish dinner at 6:30 and continued with the routine business and the election of officers for 1957-58. On a motion from the floor all of the present officers were reelected. They include:

Mrs. Joseph Williams, president; Mrs. Harry Shanks, vice president; Mrs. George Arrow, second vice president; Mrs. Charles Beazell, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles Yusko, coresponding secretary; Mrs. George Roy, chaplain, and Mrs. Roy Mossburg, sergeant at arms.

Mrs. Williams asked for reports from the coupon chairman, Mrs. John Tola and the poppy chairman, Mrs. Allison Roy. Mrs. Tola stated that 39,225 coupons had been secured, clipped and sent to the state coupon chairman.

The poppy sale was very successful with $454.65 collected.

The following schedule was arranged for coming activities. Mrs. George Arrow has planned to hold one first party for veterans hospitalized at Leech Farm for the year. It will be a July event. On August 3, Mrs. Robert Park Sr. will hold a bake sale, the proceeds to be used for the cleaning and upkeep of the meeting place.

The regular Auxiliary meetings will resume in September and on Sept. 17 a crystal party will be held. The annual spaghetti dinner will be held on Saturday, Oct. 12.

Hostesses for Friday's meeting were: Mrs. Patrick Hynes, Mrs. James Davidson and Mrs. Wilbur Evans.

Woman's Society To Hold Dinner

The Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Fayette City Methodist Church will hold a covered dish dinner at the home of Mrs. Thomas Marriott, Main St. Thursday evening at 6:30.

Following dinner there will be a regular business meeting of the society. Hostesses for the evening in addition to Mrs. Marriott are, Mrs. Frank Deeds, Mrs. Willard Auther, Mrs. Edwin Hindmarsh and Mrs. Cecil Wyatt, officers of the society.

Mrs. James Welch left Monday morning for Chicago where she will spend the summer months visiting with her sister, Mrs. Lee Clegg.

To Each His Own

FORT POLK, La. (UP) — The Army's laundry code system has run into double trouble because regulations require GIs to mark clothing with their last names and final four digits of their serial numbers. The trouble popped up when the Army discovered that Sgts. William R. and Russell A. Wilson have identical last four digits. The solution? The sergeants will have to use separate [illegible]

Attend Beagle Club Banquet

Fourteen members of the Fayette Beagle Club attended the first annual banquet of the West Penn Beagle Association Saturday evening at the Kittanning Country Club.

Following dinner there was dancing and cards for entertainment. Members of the local group attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kuhns, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Young, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evans, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. T. Stockton, Mr. and Mrs. William Opfar and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Morris.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stockton left Monday for East St. Louis, Ill. to spend several weeks visiting with their son-in-law and daughter and their family, Mr. and Mrs. William Finley.

WITH 4-H CLUB CHAMP — A former Monessen girl, Mrs. Harry Smith, (center) of Beaver, home economics extension representative in Beaver County, is presenting Reatha Snyder, of Aliquippa, to Gov. George Leader last week at the opening of the 4-H Dairy Bar in the rotunda of the state capitol. Miss Snyder was chosen outstanding 4-H Dairy club member in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Smith, the Former Clare McNabb, is a graduate of Monessen High School and Seton Hill College, Greensburg.

State Pardons Board Investigators Report No Political Influence

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Pardons Board investigating committee was reported today to have found in its 11-week inquiry no basis for a charge that "political considerations" influenced the board in recent clemency cases.

The first draft of the committee's report to the Legislature, written by its chairman, Rep. Edwin W. Tompkins, former Cameron County district attorney, stated that "there were apparent attempts made to use political and personal influence," but added the investigators are "unable to state if the efforts and contact made had any bearing upon the decision reached by the Pardons Board."

Tompkins emphasized the first draft is still under discussion by the committee, which has as yet been unable to agree on the exact report to be made. Tompkins, however, just before a meeting of the committee Monday night, said that most of the members were agreed on what recommendations should be made to the Legislature.

While the six committee members were reported to be in general agreement as to some changes in the administrative processes of the board, it was clear that the two Democratic members —Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (Northampton) and Rep. Philip Lopresti (Cambria)—were holding out from any report which would charge the present all-Democratic board with improper conduct.

The investigation was set off by Republican charges of "sinister influences" during the 1956 campaign when Gov. George M. Leader last September commuted the death sentences of convicted killer David Darcy to life imprisonment.

Darcy, together with Harold Foster and Harry Zeitz, were convicted of killing a bystander during a Bucks County tavern holdup in 1947. The commutation granted the trio last September climaxed an eight-year legal battle which four times reached the U.S. Supreme Court.

Darcy's appeals were financed by his aunt, Marion Ford, a Philadelphia real estate and insurance broker, personal friend and former secretary of Democratic Party finance officer Matthew H. McCloskey.

In addition to the Darcy case, the investigators also looked into board actions in several other recent cases in Erie, Delaware and Philadelphia counties.

Although several prominent jurists and law enforcement officials who appeared before the committee disputed the board's clemency recommendations, the committee found no witnesses to bring concrete charges of improper conduct against the board members.

Allergic to Hubby

TOKYO (UP) — And then there was the woman who was allergic to her husband. The story came out today in the Pacific edition of the Stars and Stripes. "Whenever her husband would come near her she would break out in a rash similar to poison ivy," a doctor said. "When he is away the rash immediately clears up." Air Force doctors have not been able to determine the cause but they are now investigating the sergeant's hair oil and after-shave lotion as possible clues to the mystery.

Industrial Development Cut

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate today received a House-approved proposal for a three million dollar allocation for the state's industrial development program in the next two years, still two million dollars short of the amount sought by Gov. George M. Leader.

The original $1,500,000 bill was doubled Monday night by the Republican majority, over objections of Democrats that it was not enough to carry out the program to attract new industries into the state.

During lengthy debate on a proposal by Rep. George X. Schwartz (D-Philadelphia) to bring the figure up to Leader's request, House Minority Whip Hiram G. Andrews said the House had become the victim of GOP formula of "hold the line" against new taxes.

Schwartz, whose proposed amendment was defeated 113-73, along party lines, said the bill affected the entire state and was "not a give-away program" since the grants were in the form of loans.

Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) said a more effective program to lure new industries, particularly large corporations with big employe payrolls, would be to ease the tax burden on business and industry.

At the recent meeting were Judy Mehalek, Judy Todd, Diane Olson, Barbara Maras, Nancy Myers, Carol Nusser, Joyce Revak, Patty McCauley, Dana Hanna, Susan Naylor, Patty Rocco, Linda Prosba, Sandy Matty, Patty Guzzie, Amelia Natali, Linda Lynn and Eleanor Stark.

Postal Clerks Want Pay Raise

ALTOONA, Pa. (UP)— The Pennsylvania Federation of Postal Clerks has approved a resolution calling upon Congress to approve a pay raise, increased annuities for retired postal workers and recognition of the union as bargaining agent.

Gerald S. Stoltz, corresponding secretary of Altoona Local 776, said the exact amount of the requested pay increase had not yet been determined.

Wigden Gospel Team Guests at Webster Sunday

The Community Service of Webster Churches was held Sunday in the Methodist Church. Bill Maurer was in charge of opening services which included group singing. Madge Hamilton was accompanist.

Guests were the Wigden Gospel team of New York, composed of Robert, vocalist, and William Wigden, guitarist-vocalist. They presented several individual selections and duets.

William told of the work of the team among the missions in various places. He then spoke on "Where are Your Sins". He also delivered the opening and closing prayers besides telling of a woman's work among women prisoners.

Next Sunday's meeting in the Presbyterian Church will feature the Daily Vacation Bible School program.

Visit Church Camp

The Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Burchell spent the past week at Alameda Park in Butler where their church camp is located. The camp is being prepared for the July 1 opening.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kirk and son, Bobby, of Washington, Pa., visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Patterson and James Cowan.

Meetings Tonight

A special board meeting of Webster Methodist Church will be held tonight at 7:30 at the church following which the Women's Society of Christian Service will meet at the home of Dorothy Wenzel for a regular meeting.

The Alpha and Omega Class of Rehoboth Church will meet tonight at 8 p. m. Leader will be Gertrude Wunderlich while Mildred Mori and Frances Colvin will be hostesses.

The Climbers Class of Pricedale Union Church will meet tonight at 7:30 p. m. in the recreation hall with Mary Lou Lees, Violet Baldwin, Margaret Harrison and Anna Mae Basil as hostesses.

Nazarene Bible Class Has 113 Enrollees

The Nazarene Daily Bible Vacation Bible School opened Monday at 9 a. m. in the church with 113 enrolled. It will continue each day from 9 to 11 a. m. until June 21. A special program will be held June 20.

The Rev. Frederick Burchell is dean. Anyone may still enroll in the school by reporting to the church any morning at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Raymond Echart has returned home after a 10-day trip visiting Florida, Texas and other places of interest. She was accompanied by a cousin, Mrs. Walter Daub, of Trenton, N. J.

Human Can Stand 900 Degrees

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — A human being can stand a temperature of 900 degrees fahrenheit for a brief period before collapsing, a scientist reported today.

The scientist, Konrad Buettner, reported on the effect of high temperatures on human performance in a paper delivered to the semi-annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Buettner's figures indicated that under specific conditions, a man "covered with one centimeter of clothing might remain as long as a minute and a half in air at 900 degrees fahrenheit without collapse."

"Without protective clothing, he might survive a 300-degree temperature for the same period," Buettner said.

The question of heat tolerance is of vital importance to engineers designing aircraft traveling at supersonic speeds since the aircraft are liable to become heated by friction of the air.

"I just have to gag him when members of our congregation call."

Supreme Court Ruling Causes Legal Tangle

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congress may have to unsnarl the national and international legal tangle caused by the Supreme Court's ruling on courts-martial of American civilians overseas.

The court Monday, in a 6-2 ruling, outlawed military trials for GI dependents overseas accused of crimes punishable by death. The status of civilians committing lesser crimes may be decided in a later case.

Defense Department lawyers declined immediate comment on the decision, saying they would have to study the court opinions. The government contended in fighting to keep courts - martial that civilian employes and dependents might be barred from going overseas if the armed forces were deprived of power to try them.

One effect of the ruling apparently will be to subject any servicemen's dependents overseas accused of capital crimes to immediate jurisdiction of foreign courts. The Pentagon had no information compiled on what cases if any of this type are now in litigation.

The decision may have an important bearing on this country's so-called "status-of-forces" agreements with foreign nations governing trial of Americans abroad.

The court ruling overturned a 5-3 opinion a year ago in the same case.

Monday's decision frees from further prosecution in any American court Mrs. Dorothy Krueger Smith, convicted in 1953 in Tokyo of fatally stabbing her husband; and Mrs. Clarice B. Covert of Atlanta, Ga., convicted of the axe murder of her husband the same year in England.

Frederick B. Wiener, Washington attorney who represented the two women, said their fate now hinges on terms of extradition treaties with the two nations, and on whether Britain or Japan may want to demand return of either woman for trial there.

Church Pays Annual 'Rent' Of One Rose

MANHEIM, Pa. (UP) — The congregation of historic Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church, paid its "rent" Sunday.

The annual levy of "one red rose" was given to Mrs. Donald Shettle, of Harrisburg, as specified in the 125-year-old deed of Baron Henry W. Stiegel, "pioneer iron-maker, glass maker and church layman."

The deed requires payment of one red rose each June to an "heir or assign" of the baron. Mrs. Shettle is the niece of Mrs. Gilbert Dannehower, Westfield, N. J., a sixth descendant of Stiegel.

Token roses also were presented to all descendants of the baron attending ceremonies. Mrs. Ruth Grigg Hortin, state Secretary of Public Assistance, and the Rev. Frederick K. Wentz, of the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, spoke at the services.

TV Hillbillies Popular

ABOARD THE SPANISH SCHOONER DE ELCANO (UP) A bunch of TV hillbillies wowed the pride of the Spanish navy.

The 400 officers and men aboard the Spanish four - master sailing ship Juan Sebastian de Elcano may never be the same. They sailed into Hampton Roads today to prepare for the International Naval Review whistling a little ditty named "Cacklin' Hen."

The CBS Jimmy Dean Show climbed aboard the big schooner Monday night waving fiddles and gee-tars. Before they left, they had the sons of old Seville join in on a chorus of "Y'all Come."

Then Dean sang "Anytime" from half-way up the rigging.

"This is some ship, I want you to know," he shouted and the sailors cheered.

French, English and American sailors crowded the deck with the Spaniards and lined the rails of neighboring warships to catch a bit of American culture. Dean shouted "grah - cias, grah - cias" and called Jan Crockett, the former Miss Florida. She did the hula and didn't need an interpreter.

"The hands tell it," a Spanish midshipman shouted happily.

Afterwards, the Spaniards invited Dean, Miss Florida and company below decks for some Spanish hospitality and a tour of the ship's mahogany paneled and stained glass public rooms.

"Man what a bachelor's apartment this would make," a fiddle player said.

Miss Florida offered the ship's first officer a pink cigaret.

"I never see such a colored cigaret in my life," he said.

Nighties not Covered

Takes Trip to One of Billy Graham's New York Meetings

(This is the first of a series of dispatches by the religious desk of the United Press on Billy Graham's New York Crusade. Today's dispatch takes you to a typical Graham meeting.)

By LOUIS CASSELS

NEW YORK (UP) — As you turn off Broadway onto West 49th Street you see the first sign that something strange is happening in the big city.

A poster hung in the window of a neon-lighted bar urges you to "attend the Billy Graham crusade."

A block farther the lighted marquee of Madison Square Garden comes into view. In the same bold letters that have announced prize fights and circuses, it proclaims:

"Nightly at 7:30 Billy Graham New York Crusade. Air conditioned. All seats free."

It is not yet 7 p.m. but a long line already stands outside the main entrance. No ticket is needed to get in. Although some sections are reserved for church-sponsored delegations, at least half of the 18,500 seats are held open each night for people who just walk in.

As the well-mannered crowd moves inside, you notice that the Garden has undergone a few subtle transformations. Strips of cardboard cover the beer signs. A Bible shop has been set up in a checkroom.

Big Platform Erected

At the west end of the Garden is a big platform about 10 feet above the arena floor. Decorated with potted plants, it is furnished with chairs, an electric organ and a piano. On a narrow promontory extending from the front of the platform, surrounded by a wrought iron fence, is the mahogany pulpit.

From the front of the pulpit to the first row of folding chairs is a 30-foot space—room for several hundred people to stand. The rows of chairs are divided by aisles. Some sections are marked with signs—reserved for counselors, for ministers, for the blind, for the deaf (to whom the sermon is translated by an expert in sign language).

No one tells you not to smoke, but you sense that it wouldn't be appropriate. And as you look around the fast-filling auditorium, you notice there is remarkable unanimity on this conclusion. Throughout the two nights you are in the Garden, you will not see a single match-flame in the distant, darkened balconies.

You also will listen in vain for the coughing, whispering, throat-clearing and chair-scraping that usually go with a big crowd. These people have come to witness, or perhaps to experience, religious conversion, and they are waiting, some reverently, some curiously, all quietly and expectantly.

Choir Begins To Sing

There is a paper-bound "Crusade Hymnal" on your seat, and promptly at 7:30 choir director Cliff Barrows tells you to turn to page 38. The choir 800 women in white blouses, 700 men in white shirts — swells out in the familiar words of "Blessed Assurance." Barrows gently coaxes you to join in . . . "there's a blessing if you sing . . ." and soon the whole crowd is singing.

Two more hymns ..a prayer by a local minister...a vocal solo by George Beverly Shea, the scripture is read by an English clergyman the offering is taken up in cardboard ice buckets. So far the service has been—except for the sheer size of choir and congregation—just what you'd find in any Baptist church on Sunday morning.

You have been waiting for Graham to make a dramatic entrance. But now you spot him sitting there on the platform, taking part in the preliminaries like everyone else. At 8:10 p.m., without fanfare or introduction, he gets up and walks quietly to the pulpit.

He is, as advertised, a handsome man, with hawklike features and wavy blond hair that makes him look younger than his 38 years. His suit is well tailored, perfectly pressed.

Carries His Bible

He holds a limp-backed Bible in his left hand and from it he reads his text in a loud, clear voice that never reaches a shout. A portable microphone hidden in his tie clasp carries his voice to the loud-speaker system.

He moves back and forth across the platform as he talks. He gestures frequently and vividly. You count 23 different hand movements in the space of one minute.

Many people, including Graham, have observed that he is not an especially eloquent preacher. His prose is lucid, grammatically correct, but rarely distinguished by an elegant turn of phrase. Neither his voice nor his manner could be described as spellbinding. Yet he commands the attention of an audience as few preachers are able to do.

You have been told that it is his "sincerity" that impresses you. But you soon realize that this is too pale a term. What comes through as you listen to Billy Graham in the hushed stillness of Madison Square Garden is not merely sincerity, but passionate, contagious conviction.

He does not strive for emotionalism through calculated effect. He seems to bend over backwards to avoid that charge which was laid at the door of so many earlier evangelists. But there is a tone of urgency to his message, an emphasis on the eternal and ultimate importance of "the decision you will reach here tonight," which must have a powerful emotional impact on any but the most confident Christian...or the most impregnable agnostic.

Message Of Salvation

The message, tonight as always, is the Christian plan of salvation, as Graham reads it in his Bible .. unadorned—or undiluted—by the insights of modern theology.

"We are all sinners," he declares again and again. Abundantly documenting this fact are examples of the pride, lust, selfishness, greed and worldliness which infect the lives of all men...even the pious... "including the speaker."

And "the wages of sin is death." Graham does not invoke the image of everlasting fire, but neither does he pass lightly over the doctrine of final judgment and the "sentence of eternal death" which awaits the unrepentant sinner.

It is only when the dark alternative has been painted that Graham proclaims the "good news" of the Gospel.

God has sent His son, Jesus Christ, to redeem mankind from its self-condemnation. Graham intones. When Jesus died on the cross, "in a mysterious and glorious way that no theologian can explain, He bore our sins." If we will accept His sacrifice on our behalf, will "receive Him" into our hearts as lord and master we will "pass from death into life" ." an eternal life of power and peace and joy."

Now the evangelist is inviting you to make your "decision for Christ" tonight now "before you leave this building:"

Many Come Forward

"I am going to ask you to get out of your seat and come quietly down here to the front, as an indication of your decision," the words pour out "Just get up and come quickly...come now."

The choir begins to sing softly. It is the old revival hymn, "Just As I Am", without one plea." For an excruciatingly long minute, it seems that this time, no one is coming forward.

Then a teen-age boy walks forward, sobbing quietly. An elderly man with gleaming bald head comes from the side. There is a smartly dressed woman in a mink stole, and a platinum blonde who could be a showgirl.. a tough-looking kid in a leather jacket and ducktail haircut. a boy and girl holding hands.. now they are coming by fives and tens too many to count ..

A few have tears on their cheeks . a few are smiling nervously. most of them are solemn, quiet their heads bowed. They seem to represent every age, sex and race every economic bracket.

You may still have reservations about why they are there or whether their "conversion" will last. But the plainly evident fact is that they ARE there. hundreds of them, and so far as anyone can judge by outward appearance, they are utterly sincere. It is a deeply moving sight.

(Next—Is the New York 'Crusade' a success?)

Judgment Day May Come Soon, Graham Says

NEW YORK (UP)—Evangelist Billy Graham warned Monday night that man may stand now on the threshold of Judgment Day and that God may choose the hydrogen bomb as the instrument of global destruction predicted in the Bible.

"God never sends down a judgment without warning, whether it be to nations, to cities, or individuals," Graham said. "This New York Crusade may be held now, in June, in 1957, as part of God's warning to people all over the world to repent their sins while they still can.

"We may be seeing a period that is just before what could be judgment over the world, this nation, this city. If people refuse to repent, refuse to turn to God, to stop serving their own gods—"

Graham threw up his hands leaving his warning unfinished.

"The rain of fire and destruction that befell Sodom and Gomorrah sounds to me similar to the effects of modern nuclear weapons," Graham said. "As God rendered Sodom and Gomorrah into dust, so might the hydrogen bomb be used to destroy modern cities."

He said that peoples on either side of the Iron Curtain might be saved from the terrible destruction of the H-bomb if men and nations repent their sins and give themselves to God.

Following the sermon, 384 persons went to the front of Madison Square Garden to record "decisions for Christ," running the evangelist's total of conversions since the crusade began 21 days ago to 15,229. More than 483,300 persons have attended the sermons.

Uninvited Guest

TAIPEI, Formosa (UP) — Liu Fu-chien's wedding was interrupted when his bride complained of a "severe stomach ache," it was reported here today.

A few hours later the bride-to-be gave birth to a 6½-pound boy.

JET PILOT RESCUED — Comdr. J. E. Tefft (above), commander of Fighter Squadron 31 at Cecil Field, was picked up from a life raft off the coast of Florida. A helicopter carried out the rescue. Tefft was one of the two jet pilots who crashed into the sea during the Naval exercises conducted for President Eisenhower and other high U. S. officials. The body of the second pilot was picked up later.

Beaver Housing Authority Okay

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Public Housing Administration has authorized the Beaver County Housing Authority to use $48,937.35 now in its sinking fund to repurchase and cancel their long term bonds.

The permission was granted Sunday by Housing Commissioner Charles E. Slusser, who said "now is a favorable time for the purchase of new housing authority bonds at very attractive yields."

Fayette Man Builds Boats to Pass Time

A. Warren James, of Middle St. West Brownsville, has a hobby of building boats. He does practically all of the work in his little shop near his home.

The sleek 16-foot river crafts that he builds are gaining him quite a reputation as an artisan.

He is regularly employed in the Allenport plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Co.

He took up the hobby about four years ago and, working in the evenings and days when there is no work at the steel mill, he has built 10 boats in that period.

The tenth boat has just been launched. Mr. James built it for W. F. (Slim) Guesman, automotive mechanic, of Brownsville.

Others for whom he has built boats include Daniel Sorensen, Richard Ehlers and Joseph Jacobs, all of West Brownsville, and Joseph Curcio, of Newell.

James made a jig, which itself looks like the framework of a boat. He uses plywood for hulls molding it around the jig. He developed a way of molding the plywood into graceful curves which he guards jealously as a trade secret. Other boat men say they have never seen the method used elsewhere.

A heavy fiberglass coating is used on the plywood hull which hardens into a glass-like consistency. All of the boats that James has built thus far have been for outboard motor use.

Boat building is not a new venture in the West Brownsville area. Some of the earliest settlers west of the Allegheny Mountains built their crude cabin homes close to the Monongahela River in this area.

Keel boats were built here in colonial times and floated down the Monongahela, Ohio and Mississippi rivers, laden with the stocks of Indian traders that had been freighted across the mountains in wagons.

In later years, the West Brownsville-Brownsville district became widely known as a steamboat and barge building center. Some steamboats were built here that were subsequently used on western rivers when the Far West was being opened up to white settlement.

At Alicia boat building is still a thriving industry. It is here that the Hillman Barge Construction Co. has a large and modern plant in which barges and diesel tow boats are built. Practically all construction is of steel at the Hillman plant today, whereas a few years ago barges and steamboats were built mostly of wood.

During the heydey of the river steamboat both as a passenger and freight carrier, following the Civil War, the Brownsville region was noted all over the country as a center of the boat industry. While many of the steamboats built here were floated to either Pittsburgh or Cincinnati to be equipped with boilers and engines, there was an engine works in Brownsville which furnished engines for some.

Newspapers Face Three Problems, Publisher Says

CHICAGO (UP) — A prominent publisher said today that newspapers face three paramount problems — spiralling costs, improving quality to keep ahead of competition and shortening the time lapse between the occurrence of news events and their publication.

The problems were outlined by James S. Copley, chairman of the board of Copley Press, Inc., and president, publisher and treasurer of the San Diego (Calif.) Union and Tribune, in a speech prepared for delivery to the mechanical conference of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Copley recommended that publishers always obtain the finest mechanical equipment available and "accept and join in field testing new developments as they come along. He suggested a "constant relationship" between representatives of newspaper mechanical departments and equipment manufacturers.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our beloved mother, grandmother, and greatgrandmother, Carmelia Revetta, who passed away ten years ago June 9, 1947.

Dear God, will Thou a message take
For one who walks the golden ways.
She is our own, our very best,
Without her all are empty days.
Whisper that our hearts are with her,
In that kingdom up above.
Tell her that we miss her always
And we send her all our love.
Sadly missed by Children, Grandchildren, Great Granchildren, Daughters and Sons.

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, James Scott Thompson, who passed away five years ago today, June 11, 1952.

He would not want the ones he loved
To grieve for him today.
We must not say that he is dead
For he is just away.
Away upon a journey
To a land that's bright and fair;
And though we miss him here
We know he's happy there.
And memories of him will bring
New comfort every day.
As we recall — he is not dead,
That he is just away.
Sadly missed by his Mother, Sisters, and Brothers.

Altoona Roman Catholic Bishop Dies at Age 65

ALTOONA, Pa. (UP)—The Most Rev. Richard T. Guilfoyle, 65, bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Altoona, died here Monday night after a heart attack suffered at his cathedral residence.

The bishop died at 6:20 p.m., about two and a half hours after he was admitted to Mercy Hospital. Doctors said he had been ill for some time with a cardiac condition and diabetes.

Bishop Guilfoyle, who went to work in the coal mines at 15 but decided to enter the priesthood, became Altoona's second bishop in 1936.

He administered a diocese embracing Blair, Cambria, Somerset, Bedford, Clinton, Huntingdon and Center counties in south-central Pennsylvania.

Bishop Guilfoyle, a native of DeLancey, Pa., was graduated from St. Bonaventure Academy and was ordained at Buffalo, N.Y., in 1917. His first assignment was as assistant pastor at St. Stephen Church, Oil City, Pa. He later served as secretary to Bishop Mark Gannon of Erie, Pa. He was Erie diocese chancellor for 13 years.

On Aug. 11, 1936, the prelate was appointed by Pope Pius XI to succeed the late Most Rev. Joseph McCort as bishop of Altoona. He was consecrated at St. Peters Cathedral at Erie on Nov. 30, 1936, and installed into office the following Dec. 13, at age 43.

Though ill for some time, the bishop had maintained the duties of his office. Last Wednesday he presented diplomas to graduates at Altoona High School.

'Dynamite Cap' Blast at Store

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A "dynamite cap" bomb wrecked a store front and shattered more than a dozen windows in the city's Uptown District today.

There were no reported injuries.

Police said the dynamite cap was detonated at about 2 a.m. in the streetlevel doorway of the Royal Fish and Hunt Club on Penn Ave. The explosion tore through a door, ripped the storefront of the nearby North Star Cheese Co. and shattered windows "at least 10 doors down."

Officers said they had no clues to the bomber or the motive for the attack. But police discounted the blast had any connection with the recent bombing of a shoeshine parlor in a numbers racket war.

Horsewoman Is Killed in Auto

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (UP) — Mrs. Sarah Jeanne Dovey, prominent Pennsylvania horsewomen, was killed Monday night when her automobile somersaulted down a 200-foot embankment as she was driving to the Rolling Rock Hunt Club in Ligonier Valley.

Mrs. Dovey, 40, Davidsville, was pronounced dead of a skull fracture and shock shortly after the accident which occurred a half mile from Laughlintown on Route 31.

She is survived by a husband, John M. Dovey, president of the Cambria Fuel Co. and a son, John, 12.

Senate Debates Equal Rights to State Women

HARRISBURG (UP)—The State Senate today considered House approved legislation to give married women rights equal to men with respect to property.

The bill, passed by the House Monday 160-33, would allow married women to sell their property without written consent from their husbands as required under present law.

Former House Speaker Hiram G. Andrews (D-Cambria) told the chamber he was against the bill unless it was revised to also give women equal responsibilities with men for support of their families.

"This women sufferage talk is a lot of hooey," Andrews said. "If these married women are slaves, they took great pains to find a master."

The legislation was endorsed by Gov. George M. Leader and the Republican legislative platform as a long overdue reform.

Theodore Roosevelt was the youngest president of the United States. He was 43.

British Tourists Can Visit, but on What?

LONDON (UP)—This summer for the first time since 1939 British tourists can freely visit America.

But they may not be able to eat steak, and it's unlikely that Pittsburghers or Chicagoans will see an invasion of bowler-hatted Britons with their rolled unbrellas.

There's a catch in the British Conservative government's decision to break through the "dollar curtain" and allow Britons the precious pounds sterling to spend on a junket to America.

British tourists will be rationed to 100 pounds—the equivalent of $280. And, many are asking, what can you do in America on $280?

"At current American prices, "cautioned London Daily Express American correspondent Richard Kilian, "100 pounds should last about 10 days. There will be no steaks, lots of rides on buses and the subway and some scrimping on food."

Down And Out

London Daily Mail correspondent Don Iddon reported from New York that the British tourist "will be down and out on the 100 pounds quota."

But the influential Manchester Guardian came to America's defense. The Guardian said London newspapers made it sound" as though every tourist was going to make his 100 pounds allowance cover a stay at the Waldorf-Astoria, with side trips to the Stork Club and 'My Fair Lady.'"

"Some of these Americans," the Guardian noted, "are used to lunching off a hot dog and coffee for 40 cents."

The government's change of heart was designed partly to increase Anglo - American understanding. It was bigger news here than Americans might suspect.

"New York, Here We Come!" the London Daily Sketch proclaimed in a bannerline. Its front-page editorial began, "Wow!"

Free Trip Contests

The Daily Express also bannerlined the news and both the Express and Sketch started contests with free trips to American as the prizes.

The American Embassy reported an immediate upsurge in inquiries. Thomas Cook and Sons, tour guides since 1841, had their first tours on sale within hours—a seven-day "Cook's Tour" to New York and Washington and a 12-day tour which goes as far West as Niagara Falls, and includes New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Boston. The cost is $250.

Cook's has calculated $5.60 a day for food and $19.60 a day for other expenses, including travel and admission to sightseeing spots.

Britons have noted that it would cost 20 per cent more to visit Moscow, and, at least in America, there is a slight resemblance to the language spoken here.

And, as Express correspondent Kilian told Britons, "You might end up winning some more dollars on a quiz show."

Breeze Sends Mayflower II On Way Again

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (UP) — A vagrant sea breeze found the becalmed Mayflower II today and sent her plunging off toward a triumphant welcome.

The 92-foot ship, replica of the 17th Century square - rigger that carried the pilgrims to America, scudded along on a southwesterly wind headed for the Nantucket Light Ship. She was expected to rendezvous with dozens of private yachts near the lightship sometime today.

Today marked the 51st day at sea for the 180-ton Mayflower. But she was still a favorite to eclipse the 66-days required by the original Pilgrim ship for the Atlantic crossing.

Late Monday night the Mayflower was reported drifting astern of her northerly heading, about 60 miles south of the lightship.

Skipper Alan Villiers radioed that he had "little prospects of good sailing winds," and added that he might drift for days.

There was evidence that polo was played many centuries ago in China, Japan, Persia and Tibet, but it reached England about 1860.

Julius La Rosa Gets Big Chance Saturday

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) —Julius La Rosa, who got the gate four years ago and the girl one year ago, gets the show this Saturday.

William Ewald

La Rosa, the singer who bounded to fame after Arthur Godfrey bounced him in 1953, tackles his biggest assignment this weekend when he leans in as summer pinch-hitter for Perry Como on NBC-TV.

"I was on for Perry four weeks last summer," said La Rosa as he sipped on a root beer. "But this summer, I've got the show right through till Sept. 7.

"But we're not going to change the show much. It'll be pretty much as it is now—a variety show with the emphasis on singing. We are going to use a lot of big bands though. Count Basie and, I think, Ralph Marterie and Buddy Morrow."

La Rosa celebrated his first wedding anniversary April 2. His wife, Rory, is a former secretary to Perry Como.

Got The Right Girl

"I got the right one," grinned La Rosa. "It probably sounds typical of a man who's only been married a year, but my wife to me is such a beautiful person.

"And she's changed me. Oh, man, how I've changed. I used to be a kind of happy go-lucky guy who didn't care at all about the future. My agent even had to put me on an allowance after I'd made it.

"You know how it is—a guy out of the Navy who never had more than 15 bucks in his pocket and then all of a sudden here was a guy who could buy anything I wanted. Man, I had a real ball.

"Now, it's all different. I even look inside the bankbook. I'm really concerned about building a future. Me—the guy who didn't care one way or the other whether things went right or not."

La Rosa's new concern about security has changed his attitude toward music, too. He hasn't had a hit record in quite a spell—his last big ones were "Eh Cumpari" and "Domani" of several seasons back.

No Rock 'n' Roller

"It's been all my fault," said La Rosa. "I don't like rock 'n' roll and as a result, I haven't come up with a big record lately. I can be very silly and stubborn about something like that.

"But now my attitude toward that has changed, too. It's the kids between 10 and 17 who are buying the records and they want to hear rock 'n' roll, so that's what I'll make.

"I don't care if my friends don't like it and I don't care whether I like it. It's not a question of self-respect, but of doing the practical thing."

As for Arthur Godfrey, La Rosa says: "No matter how you look at it, I was lucky to be fired. It was so fantastic. Who ever would have thought I could make $400,000 in one year?

"Last time I met Mr. Godfrey was about two and a half years ago. We just passed each other and made cordial remarks. But I'd like him and everyone else to know I'm grateful about the whole thing."

Your Health—

Don't Be Afraid to Cut Down on the Salt

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

For most of us, food would taste pretty flat without a little salt. But you never realize how much natural salt, or sodium, there is in various foods, until your doctor places you on a sodium-restricted diet.

Generally, our daily consumption of sodium in one form or another totals somewhere between three and six grams.

Simply by eliminating the use of salt in preparing the foods and at the table, you can cut this intake to between 1,000 and 1,500 milligrams, or a gram to a gram and a half.

For persons suffering congestive heart failure, high blood pressure, certain kidney diseases and other illnesses, even this amount may be too much. So the doctor will advise cutting down on sodium intake.

There's only one way to do it — confine the diet to foods with low sodium content.

Raw fruits and vegetables will comprise a major portion of any such diet, because for the most part they contain insignificant amounts of sodium. They are especially desirable in a sodium-restricted diet, because they add flavor to a meal which might otherwise be lacking in taste.

With other foods, however, you have to be careful.

Animal foods, in general, contain a fairly substantial amount of sodium. Consequently, you must consume such items as meat, poultry, fish, eggs and milk in restricted amounts.

Larger amounts of sodium are found in shellfish and organ meats, so they are usually banned.

The white of an egg contains considerably more sodium than does the yolk, and the dark meat of a chicken and other poultry has greater sodium content than does the white meat.

Use of salted bread and butter, of course, must be restricted.

However, you don't have to go hungry on a salt-free diet. There are plenty of foods you can eat

Extend Deadline For Tax Payments

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government today extended the deadline for quarterly payments of estimated income taxes to June 17.

The Internal Revenue Service changed the deadline from June 15 because that date falls on a Saturday.

It said that next Monday will be the final date for payments of second quarter individual taxes and the second half of corporate income taxes. It also is the deadline for filing of income tax returns for 1956 by U.S. citizens abroad and for domestic corporations whose records are abroad or whose principal income is from U.S. possessions.
